

CONTENTS

Part I

Conversations with Students and Staff at Brockwood Park

1. Problems of living at Brockwood where there is no authority. Difference between sentiment and affection. The feeling of being "at home". 15
2. State of the world. Need to educate ourselves. Implications of learning. Learning about co-operation. Many and varied activities. Skill in action: Yoga. 31
3. What does it mean to live together intelligently? Freedom and being open to learn. Co-operation. Orderliness. 46
4. Education to face the world. The problem of sex. Affection. 54
5. Order, discipline and learning. Space and freedom. Need for security, confidence: the feeling of "home". Learning to live together without authority. Responsibility for each other and the "home". About meditation. 64
6. Three kinds of energy. Conflict and wastage of energy. Action without conflict. The early morning meeting. 79
7. On sitting quietly with a still mind. 97
8. The sense of beauty. 104
9. What is it that wants to fulfil? What is "myself"? What in me gets hurt? Walls of resistance. Learning about attention, awareness and sensitivity. Learning about image-making. 107
10. What do you think about all day? Watching thoughts. Identifying. Habits of thought and behaviour. The beginning and ending of thought. 127

- | | | |
|-----|--|-----|
| 11. | Opposition and conformity. Can we educate ourselves to meet life fully? The limitations of personal like and dislike. To be watchful. | 145 |
| 12. | Learning about fear. Be awake to your conditioning. Dependence and standing alone. The state of creativity. To be sensitive. Awareness of beauty. | 152 |
| 13. | Can one live sanely in this insane world? Is education at Brockwood bringing about an intelligence that will function in this world? Can one learn to look objectively and see the whole? The demand for security. | 167 |
| 14. | Violence in the world. The understanding of disorder and the roots of violence. Real work is "to understand whether you live in disorder". | 180 |
| 15. | MEETING WITH STAFF ONLY
What is the function of a teacher? Three streams of work. The function of Brockwood. | 189 |

Part II

Conversations with Parents and Teachers