

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction Jean-Michel Ganteau and Susana Onega	1-9
Chapter 1 Shakespeare's Pastoral Romance The Tempest and the Levinasian Component in the Ethics of John Fowles' The Magus Elena Andonova-Kalapsazova	10-30
Chapter 2 Discourse Ethics and the Subversion of Gender Norms in Brigid Brophy's In Transit Eveline Kilian	31-49
Chapter 3 Ethics and Experimentation in B. S. Johnson's House Mother Normal Vanessa Guignery	50-70
Chapter 4 On the Limits of the Ethical: Experimentalism and the Emotional Attitude in The Infernal Desire Machines of Doctor Hoffman and Hawksmoor Jakob Winnberg	71-90
Chapter 5 Female Sacrifice and Gender Violence in A. S. Byatt's Babel Tower: An Ethical Perspective Marta Cerezo Moreno	91-116
Chapter 6 Imagining the "Other"—An Ethical Reading of A. S. Byatt's Possession and The Biographer's Tale Lena Steveker	117-130

Chapter 7	131-148
Experimental Fiction and the Ethics of a Verité : The Encounter with the Other in Martin Amis' Night Train María Jesús Martínez Alfaro
Chapter 8	149-169
Experimental Ethics: Autonomy and Contingency in the Novels of Zadie Smith Jonathan P. A. Sell
Chapter 9	170-190
When Experimentation Becomes Ethics: "A Duty Dance" with Literature in Will Self's Work Maylis Rospide
Chapter 10	191-208
Unravelling Conventions; or, the Ethics of Deconstruction in Ian McEwan's Atonement Ángeles de la Concha
Chapter 11	209-230
Experiments with Ethics in Contemporary British Fiction: The Lack of a Stable Framework in Ian McEwan's Saturday and Julian Barnes' Arthur and George Vera Nünning
Bibliography	231-249
Notes on Contributors	250-254
Index	255- 263