

Contents

Foreword	vii
Philip Jones: An Appreciation Karl Leyser	ix
Bibliography of Philip Jones	xiii
List of Contributors	xvii
1 Rural Communes and the City of Lucca at the Beginning of the Thirteenth Century Chris Wickham	1
2 Intellectuals and Culture in Twelfth- and Thirteenth-Century Italy Franco Cardini	13
3 The Conversion of St Francis John Stephens	31
4 A Blood-Feud with a Happy Ending: Siena, 1285-1304 Daniel Waley	45
5 A Monastic Clientele? The Abbey of Settimo, its Neighbours and its Tenants (Tuscany, 1280-1340) Charles M. de la Roncière	55
6 Civic Religion and the Countryside in Late Medieval Italy Giorgio Chittolini	69
7 'Honour' and 'Profit': Landed Property and Trade in Medieval Siena Giuliano Pinto	81
8 Governments and Schools in Late Medieval Italy Peter Denley	93
9 'Una Citta Fatticosa': Dominican Preaching and the Defence of the Republic in Late Medieval Siena Bernadette Paton	109

- | | | |
|----|--|-----|
| 10 | The Crown and the Economy under Ferrante I of Naples (1485-94)
David Abulafia | 125 |
| 11 | Crossing the Romagnol Appennines in the Renaissance
John Larner | 147 |
| 12 | City, Court and Contado in Camerino, c. 1500
John Easton Law | 171 |
| 13 | Commune and Despot: The Commune of Ferrara
under Este Rule, 1300-1450
Trevor Dean | 183 |
| | List of Subscribers | 199 |

Illustrations

- | | |
|--|-----|
| Philip Jones | xi |
| Routes Across the Romagnol Appennines in the Renaissance | 150 |