

Contents

List of Illustrations	vii
General Editor's Foreword	ix
Introduction	xiii
1 First Contacts, 1513–57: The Arrival of the 'Barbarian Devils' from the West	1
(a) Two Early Hearsay Accounts	1
(b) The Expedition of Fernão Peres de Andrade	6
(c) A Brother's Disruption: Simão de Andrade	13
(d) The Disastrous Expeditions of 1521 and 1522	15
(e) The Fateful Embassy of Tomé Pires	18
(f) Trade, Smuggling and Piracy from Precarious Toeholds (1523–57)	22
2 A Civilization Observed: Imperial Ming China in the Sixteenth Century	25
(a) Physical and Economic Geography	25
(b) Government, Administration and Welfare	36
(c) Society	43
(d) Chinese and Other Religions	47
(e) Language and the World of the Intellect	53
3 The Portuguese Settle in Macau: The Early Years	57
(a) The Settlement in Macau	57
(b) 'Foreign Devils'	58
(c) Portuguese Opposition to Spanish Interference	59
(d) The Jesuits seen as a Portuguese Reconnaissance Expedition	60
(e) The Macau Trade: European Goods Sought in Beijing and Suzhou	60
(f) The Portuguese of Macau Support the Jesuit Missions	61
(g) Confrontation with the Dutch	62
(h) Confrontation with the Chinese	63
4 The Jesuit Missions in China: The Portuguese Contribution	65
(a) Father António de Almeida and Father Michele Ruggieri	65
(b) Father António de Almeida and Father Matteo Ricci	66
(c) Father Duarte de Sande and Father Matteo Ricci	68
(d) Father João Soeiro and the Nanchang Mission	68
(e) Father João da Rocha and the Nanjing Mission	69
(f) Father Manuel Dias and Financial Support from Macau	70

(g)	Father Manuel Dias as Rector of the Three Southern Residences	71
(h)	Father Alessandro Valignano Loosens the Links with Macau	73
5	The Quest for Cathay: The Odyssey of Brother Bento de Góis	75
(a)	Góis Receives News about the Jesuits in Beijing	75
(b)	Góis Reaches the Great Wall of China	76
(c)	Góis Sends Letters to the Beijing Mission	77
(d)	The Rescue Dash of João Fernandes and the Death of Brother Bento	78
(e)	The Surviving Documents Relating to the Quest	79
6	Macau in the Late 1630s: Three Complementary Accounts	81
(a)	Macau's Location and its Built Environment	81
(b)	Revenues, Dues, Produce and Trade	84
(c)	Shipping in Macau Waters	88
(d)	Macau's Mixed Society and its Social Activities	89
(e)	The Portuguese, the Dutch and the Chinese	94
7	Macau and Manchu China	97
(a)	Ecclesiastical and Social Irregularities	97
(b)	The Embassy of Manuel de Saldanha (1666–70)	98
(c)	The Decline of Macau and the Increase in Violence	99
	Glossary	103
	Bibliography	107
	Index	109