

Contents

Preface	ix
Introduction	xi
Section 1: Object marking in cross-linguistic perspective
What is an object in a crosslinguistic perspective? Gilbert Lazard	1
Nominal and / or verbal marking of central actants Georg Bossong	17
(In)transitivity and object marking: some current issues Michela Cennamo	49
Section 2: Transitivity and objects in Romance languages
The object clitic pronoun in Italian: a functional interpretation Alberto Nocentini	105
Prepositional objects in Neapolitan Giuliana Fiorentino	117
From subject to object and from object to subject: (de)personalization, floating, and reanalysis in presentative verbs Peter Koch	153
Changes of valence and their effect on objects Heidi Siller-Runggaldier	187
Transitivity and grammaticalization of object. The struggle of direct and indirect object in Spanish Concepción Company Company	217

Non-diachrony of ditransitivity in Spanish Rosa María Ortiz Ciscomani	261
Argument structure of perception verbs and actance variation of the Spanish direct object Eugeen Roegiest	299
Subject Index	323