

Contents

DENISE VARNEY Theatre in the Berlin Republic: Introduction	9
ALISON LEWIS German Reunification and the Postwar Alliance between German Politics and Culture	31
SABINE ZOLCHOW The Island of Berlin	55
BIRGIT HAAS The Return of Dramatic Drama in Germany after 1989	81
MORAY MCGOWAN What was the Wende and what of the Volk ? Fidelio 's questions and the Weavers ' answers	115
LAURA BRADLEY Contesting the Legacies of Socialism: Brecht's The Mother in the Berlin Republic	141
LAURA GINTERS Wir sind das Volk! How a failed revolutionary wrote about the French Revolution – and thereby helped cause one 154 years later: Georg Büchner's Dantons Tod on the German stage	165
DENISE VARNEY Hurting. Hurting. Hurting: Gendered Representations of Reunification in Post- Wende Theatre by Women	199

GERT REIFARTH Fostering Cultural Schizophrenia: East German Theatres Re-create the GDR	229
ALEXANDRA KOLB Goodbye GDR! German Reunification in Johann Kresnik's Wendewut	267
JOHN GUTHRIE Classical Plays on the Berlin Stage. Shakespeare's Titus Andronicus (Schändung) and Schiller's Maria Stuart	287
KATRIN SIEG German Theatre and Globalisation	307
Notes on Contributors	325
Index	329