

Contents

Chapter One: JEAN GIRAUDOUX AND THE GERMAN ROMANTIC AUTHORS	I
Giraudoux's Knowledge of German Romanticism	I
His Studies and Travels	I
The New Romanticism	3
Giraudoux and the Romantic Weltanschauung	5
Subjectivism	5
Anti-rationalism	6
Structure of the World	8
The Place of Poetry and the Poet	9
Giraudoux and the Romantic Kunstanschauung	10
The Poet and His Work	10
The Poetic Genre	15
The Märchen as an Exemplification of the Romantic Ideal	18
Literary Patterns Adopted from the Märchen	19
Attitude Toward Man and Nature	21
Language	23
Romantic Irony	25
German Sources for Giraudoux's Theater	31
Romantic Dramaturgy	31
Giraudoux's Plays and Their German Predecessors	33
Conclusion	36
 Chapter Two: THE SURREALISTS	 38
The Surrealist Revolt Against Conventional Values	38
Anti-rationalism, Anti-realism	39
Clamor for Liberty	40
The Metaphysical Adventure	41
The Mystic Rôle of Poetry	42
Imagination and the Merveilleux	43

The Unconscious	45
Automatic Writing and the Image	46
Integral Materialism	47
The Everyday Merveilleux	49
Love	50
Integration and Synthesis	51
Humour Noir	53
Poetry and Action	55
Esthetic Theory	56
The Novel	56
Poetry and the Poet	57
Conclusion	61
Chapter Three: A GENERAL VIEW	62
The Historical Link with German Romanticism	62
Philosophy	62
Symbolism	65
The Widespread Adherence to the Romantic Creed	67
Attitude Toward Man and the Universe	67
Nature and Objectives of Literature	73
Justification of the Present Essay	79