

Contents

Introduction, 7

Part I: The TEMPUS DSDE Project, 9

John Sayer. The DSDE Project: background, proposals, and outcomes, 11
DSDE Report: the preparation and continuing development of teachers, 27

Part II: The Development of CDVU at Brno, 57

Jitka Kazelleová. Our Centre and the TEMPUS Programme, 59

Jitka Kazelleová & Jaroslava Tomancová. CDVU MU Activity and the Influence of the TEMPUS Programme, 61

John Sayer. The Continuing Professional Development of Teachers and the Role of the University, 65

Jan Beran & Jana Kohnová. Proposal for a Conception of In-Service Teacher Education and Training, 71

Jan Beran. Transformation of the Czech Educational System: the 'common school' project, 79

Part III. Aspects of the TEMPUS Programme in Krakow, 83

Roman Dorczak & Andrzej Szyjewski. Where the Reform of the Polish Education System is Going: between ideology and economic limitations, 85

Roman Dorczak. A New Model of Initial Teacher Training: chances for development of Polish schools, 91

Grzegorz Chomicki. Does the Krakow Education System Need Democracy? 97

Aleksandra Kwiecińska. Professional Career Development at a Time of Political and Economic Change, 103

Dawid Friedmann. Students' Influence on Changes in Teachers' Attitudes and Methods of Work, 107

Małgorzata Niemczyńska. The Teacher's Authority and the Foundations of Students' Personality Development, 111

Andrzej Mirski. Does the Polish School Teach Tolerance and Cultural Openness? 117

Part IV. Bilateral Studies: home and school, 123

Milada Rabušicová. Influence of the Family on Educational Achievement, 125

- Milada Rabušicová. On Relationships Between the School and the Family, 135
- Tatyana Bourmina. Research and Development on Home-School Relations, 143

Part V. Citizenship and Values, 159

- David Martin. Values and Assessment, 161

- Eva Foldes Travers. The Challenges for Civic Education in Hungary, 177

- Hugh Starkey. Re-inventing Citizenship Education in a New Europe, 213

Postscript, 227

Notes on Contributors, 229