

Contents

	Contributors	vii
	Foreword	xii
	John Ward and Jef Smith
	Introduction	xiii
	David Jones and Marjorie Mayo
Part I	Change, Conflict and the Grass Roots	1
	Marjorie Mayo
	1 Carrying on in the middle of violent conflict: some observations of experience in Northern Ireland	5
	Hywel Griffiths
	2 The control of change and the regulation of community action	22
	John Dearlove
	3 Adult education and social action	44
	Bob Ashcroft and Keith Jackson
	4 The political community	66
	Sean Baine
	5 East London Claimants' Union and the concept of self-management	79
	East London Claimants' Union
	6 A local view of community work	90
	Harry Liddell and Richard Bryant
Part II	Making Services Relevant and Responsive	101
	David Jones
	7 Developmental planning in local authority services	105
	John Crook
	8 Area team community work: achievement and crisis	118
	Aryeh Leissner and Jennifer Joslin

9	Responsibility without power: the case of social development	148
	Michael Harloe and Meryl Horrocks
10	Three-dimensional noughts and crosses: the work of a Council of Social Service	160
	Pamela Warren
11	Community arts	171
	Sharon Collins, Paul Curno, Jenny Harris and John Turner
12	The community school – A base for community development?	186
	George and Teresa Smith
13	Planning, participation and planners	199
	Adah Kay
Part III	Training	215
	David Jones
14	Community work training – drift, dogma and detente	219
	Philip Bryers
15	Community work experience in social work training	229
	Peter Baldock
Part IV	Strategies for Change – Two Critiques	241
	Marjorie Mayo
16	Experimenting in social reform	245
	Peter Marris
17	Strategies for change at the local level: some reflections	260
	John Benington	