

Contents

---

Acknowledgments vii

1. Social invention and action-research 1
    - The invention process 4
    - Social invention 10
    - The action-research relationship 13
    - Case-study approach 24
    - New interventions for competence building 26
    - Issues 28
  2. Families 35
    - The focus in family research 36
    - Case study: A family services brokerage 38
    - Case study: The empathy development group 59
  3. Schools 89
    - Case study: Social problem-solving curriculum 91
    - Case study: The mentor role 108
    - Case study: Urban discovery 122
  4. Courts 148
    - Case study: Children's lawyer (law guardian) 151
    - Case study: Mediation as an alternative to litigation in divorce proceedings 169
  5. Communities 185
    - Case study: Parent/child mediation panels 189
    - Case study: The community woman 208
    - Case study: The Door—a model center for alternative services for youth 222
  6. Conclusions 242
    - Formation of social interventions 242
    - Issues of action-research methods 248
    - Conclusions about children and stress 257
- Index 265