

CONTENTS

---

Acknowledgements	page viii
Introduction	ix
1 Social Work in the 1970s – the Need for Accountability	1
2 The Vastness and Vagueness of the Social Work Task	6
3 Social Worker and Consumer Perspectives	11
4 The Development of the Case Review System	20
5 The Exercise of Feedback	30
6 ‘Needs’ and Demands on Social Services in the Area Brendan McGuinness, E. Matilda Goldberg and R. William Warburton	39
7 A Year’s Intake to an Area Office	58
8 Short-Term Social Work in an Intake Team	68
9 The Long-Term Teams and Their Clients	84
10 Long-Term Social Work with the Elderly and Disabled	89
11 Long-Term Social Work with Child and Family Problems	100
12 Environmental Problems	109
13 Problems of Mental and Emotional Disorder	113
14 The Social Worker’s Evaluation of the Case Review System	120
15 Conclusions and Reflections	124
References	137
Appendix 1 Case Review System	142
Appendix 2 How the System Works	148
Index	153