

Contents

Foreword	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
Contributors	xiii
I. Rape, Redemption, and the Grateful Dead: Richars li biaux Catherine M. Jones	3
II. When a Rose Is not a Rose: Homoerotic Emblems in the Roman de la Rose Ellen L. Friedrich	21
III. “Plus acesmez qu’une popine”: Male Cross-Dressing in Medieval French Narrative Keith Busby	45
IV. The Grammar of the Sexes in Medieval French Romance Michelle Szkilnik	61
V. A Heroine’s Sexual Itinerary: Incest, Transvestism, and Same-Sex Marriage in Yde et Olive Robert L. A. Clark	89

- VI. "Tu cuides que nos seions taus / Come autres
femes comunaus": The Sexually Confident
Woman in the Roman de Troie
Glenda Warren Carl 107
- VII. Sexual Identity in Floire et Blancheflor
and Ami et Amile
Phillip McCaffrey 129
- VIII. The Structuring of Feminine Empowerment:
Gender and Triangular Relationships in
Marie de France
Nora Cottille-Foley 153
- IX. Desexualizing the Stereotypes: Techniques of Gender Reversal in Chrétien's Chevalier au lion and Chevalier a la charrete
Karen J. Taylor 181