

Contents

Series Foreword by Cameron Northouse	xvii
Acknowledgments	xix
Introduction	1
1. Early Prose and Poetry
Symbolism To-day Bonamy Dobrée	13
Dubliners Arthur Calder-Marshall	14
Samuel Beckett and His Whoroscope Clas Zilliacus	15
Savage Humor Vivian Mercier	17
2. The Novel: Murphy, Watt, and The Trilogy
Fiction Kate O'Brien	21
A Master Stylist B. S. Johnson	22

Nought into Zero A. J. Leventhal	23
Under the Jar John Coleman	26
Samuel Beckett's World of Fiction Charles I. Glicksberg	27
Samuel Beckett and the Death of the God-Narrator Brian Wicker	39
Not Going Places Enoch Brater	51
L'Innommable and the Hermeneutic Paradigm Brian T. Fitch	54
Naming the M/inotaur: Beckett's Trilogy and the Failure of Narrative Roch C. Smith	62
Beckett and the Comedy of Decomposition Morton Gurewitch	70
Ashes to Ashes, Dust to Dust Robert Sandarg	79
3. Early Theatrical Works
Theatre (Review of Waiting for Godot) Anthony Hartley	91
Theatre (Review of Waiting for Godot) Harold Clurman	93
The Uneventful Event Vivian Mercier	95
En attendant Godot : Tragedy or Comedy? Ramona Cormier and Janis L. Pallister	96

Contents	xiii
Samuel Beckett and the Postmodern: Language Games, Play , and Waiting for Godot Jeffrey Nealon	106
How to Read Endgame Vivian Mercier	114
Theatre (Review of Endgame) Harold Clurman	118
In the Ruins of the Past: Reading Beckett Intertextually Per Nykrog	120
Rebuke to Nihilism Tom F. Driver	143
Krapp's Last Tape : The Evolution of a Play, 1958-75 James Knowlson	146
4. Return to Prose: How It Is
Beckett Country Frank Kermode	161
Farewell to Incompetence: Beckett's How It Is and Imagination Dead Imagine H. Porter Abbott	166
Beckett's Sociability Leo Bersani and Ulysse Dutoit	176
5. Interviews and Personal Reminiscences
Samuel Beckett: An Interview Patrick Starnes	191
Conversations with Samuel Beckett Jay A. Levy	195

6. Radio and Film

It's Tragic, Mysterious and Wildly Funny: That's What You Get When the B.B.C. Asks Samuel Beckett to Write a Play Roy Walker	207
Beckett Country Julia Strachey	209
From Characters to Discrete Events: The Evolving Concept of Dramatis Personae in Beckett's Radio Plays Germaine Baril	211
"To Be Is to Be Perceived" . . . Time and Point of View in Beckett's Film William F. Van Wert	219
7. Beckett is Awarded the Nobel Prize
Godot Arrives Iain Hamilton	227
Nobel Prize: Kyrie Eleison Without God	229
8. Late Theatrical Works
Theatre (Review of Happy Days) Harold Clurman	233
The Stage: Beckett's Happy Days Richard Gilman	235
The Paradox of Silence: Samuel Beckett's Plays Renée Riese Hubert	237
The New Beckett Barbara Bray	245
Samuel Beckett: about him and about A. J. Leventhal	247

Contents	xv
On the Route of a Walking Shadow: Samuel Beckett's Come and Go Rosangela Barone	262
Bare Bones: As a lady slips her moorings, Beckett sounds a hopeful note Jay Carr	273
Review: The World Première of Ohio Impromptu , Directed by Alan Schneider at Columbus, Ohio S. E. Gontarski	275
Impact and Parable in Beckett: A First Encounter with Not I Alec Reid	278
Recontextualizing the Self: The Voice as Subject in Beckett's Not I Mary Catanzaro	287
9. Poetry, Short Stories and Prose Texts
A Rereading of the Traces Mary Ann Caws	303
Samuel Beckett: "Imagination Dead Imagine" Michael Parsons	309
"Silence Within": A Study of the Residua of Samuel Beckett John J. Mood	310
The Impossibility of Saying the Same Old Thing the Same Old Way—Samuel Beckett's Fiction Since Comment c'est Raymond Federman	326
Beckett's Deconstruction of the Machine in The Lost Ones David Porush	347
Conceptions of Inner Landscapes: The Beckettian Narrator of the Sixties and Seventies Cathleen Culotta-Andonian	357

The Weaving of Penelope's Tapestry: Genre in the Works of Samuel Beckett J. E. Dearlove	367
Samuel Beckett's For to End Yet Again : A Conflict between "Syntax of Energy" and "Syntax of Weakness" Tseng Li-Ling	373
Sublime Supplements: Beckett and the "Fizzling Out" of Meaning Nicoletta Pireddu	391
10. Final Tribute
Who's Afraid of Samuel Beckett? Martin Esslin	403
An Intimate Look at Beckett the Man Mel Gussow	414
Giving Birth "Astride of a Grave," Samuel Beckett: 1906-1989 William A. Henry III	416
Selected Bibliography	419
Index	423