

CONTENTS

Preface to the Revised and Expanded Edition xi

Translator's Note xix

Introductory Essay: Perestroika and Stalinism, 1988 1

PART 1

STALIN'S RISE IN THE PARTY

1. Stalin as a Party Chief 25

1. Before 1917 25
2. In 1917 39
3. Commissar of Nationalities 49
4. In the Civil War 55

5. Lenin's Support 63
6. General Secretary 67
7. The Death of Lenin 75
8. Lenin's "Testament" 79
9. Stalin in 1923-1924 87

2. The Fight with the Opposition 92

1. Disputes in the Bolshevik Party 92
2. Trotsky 96
3. Disputes in the Politburo, 1923 110
4. The Trotskyist Opposition, 1923-1924 116
5. Zinoviev and Kamenev 136
6. The "New Opposition" 143
7. The Deaths of Frunze and Dzerzhinsky 155
8. The United Opposition, 1926-1927 159
9. Bukharin 183
10. The "Right Deviation" 192

3. Mistakes and Crimes in Collectivization and Industrialization 211

1. Cooperatives and Collectivization in Agriculture 211
2. Grain Procurement Difficulties, 1927-1928 217
3. Distortions and Mistakes in Collectivization 221
4. Collectivization and Persecution of the Orthodox Church 228
5. "Liquidation of the Kulaks as a Class" 230
6. Administrative Repression in the Countryside, 1932-1933 238
7. Famine in the Countryside, 1932-1933 240
8. Internal Passports 245
9. Shortcomings and Mistakes in Industrialization 248

4. New Crimes by Stalin in the Early Thirties 255

1. Soviet Power and the "Bourgeois" Intelligentsia 255
2. Political Trials of 1928-1930 258
3. The "Industrial Party" and "Union Bureau" Trials, 1931 263
4. Fraudulence of the Trials of 1928-1931 266
5. Behind the Scenes of the Trials 272
6. Mass Repression Against the Intelligentsia and Specialists 284
7. The End of NEP 289
8. Repression Inside the Party 292

9. The Suicide of Nadezhda Alliluyeva 298
10. Repression in the Social Sciences and Literature 303
11. Stalin's Policies in the International Working Class Movement 307
12. Beginning of the Stalin Cult 313
13. Bukharin in the Early Thirties 319
14. Trotsky in the Early Thirties 321

PART 2

STALIN'S USURPATION OF POWER, AND THE GREAT TERROR5. The Kirov Assassination and the Purge Trials 327

1. The Beginnings of New Opposition, 1934 327
2. The Kirov Assassination 334
3. Repression in Early 1935 346
4. Repression Continues, 1935–1936 348
5. The First Moscow Trial, 1936 354
6. The Fall of Yagoda and Promotion of Yezhov 358
7. Trial of the "Parallel Center" 361
8. The February-March Plenum of 1937 364
9. Trial of the "Anti-Soviet Right-Trotskyite Bloc" 368
10. The Fraudulence of the Moscow Show Trials 375
11. Mass Repression of Former Oppositionists 383
12. Trotsky, 1936–1940 389

6. The Assault on Party and State Cadres, 1937–1938 395

1. The Assault on Cadres of the Central Party, Government, and Economic Institutions 396
2. The Death of Sergo Ordzhonikidze 399
3. The Death of Nadezhda Alliluyeva 403
4. The Fate of Others Close to Lenin 406
5. The Assault on Cadres in the Provinces and Union Republics 409
6. Repression in the Trade Unions and Komsomol 417
7. Destruction of the Cadres of the Red Army 420
8. Repression in the NKVD, the Courts, and the Procuracy 425
9. Repression of Comintern Activists and Members of Non-Soviet Communist Parties 430
10. Repression Among the Scientific and Technical Intelligentsia 437

11. Repression in Literature and the Arts 445
12. Repression Among the Populace at Large 449

7. Rehabilitation and Repression, 1938–1941 456

1. Yezhov's Replacement by Beria 456
2. Beria's Political Career 461
3. Partial Rehabilitations, 1939–1941 466
4. New Repression, 1939–1941 469
5. International Response to the Repression of 1936–1938 474

8. Illegal Methods of Investigation and Confinement 485

1. Torture 485
2. The Farce of a Trial; Jails and Prisoner Transports 499
3. The "Corrective" Labor Camps 506
4. NKVD Personnel: Their Conduct and Responsibility 512

PART 3

STALINISM: ITS NATURE AND CAUSES

9. The Problem of Stalin's Responsibility 523

1. Stalin's Leading Role in the Repression of 1936–1938 523
2. Was Stalin "Deceived"? 533
3. Was Stalin Mentally Ill? 541
4. The Myth of Stalin's "Permanent Revolution" 551
5. The Myth of Stalin's "National Revolution" 555
6. The Myth of Stalin's "Anti-Communist Revolution" 564
7. Was Stalin a Police Agent? 572
8. Stalin's Personality and the Motives for His Crimes 585

10. Other Causes of Mass Repression 602

1. The Chain Reaction of Arrests 602
2. The Concept of "Political Crime" 607
3. Mass Participation in the Repression 608

11. Conditions Facilitating Stalin's Usurpation of Power 614

1. Posing the Problem 614
2. Again on the Stalin Cult 617

3. The Absence of Glasnost and Freedom of Criticism 623
4. The Domestic and International Situation 628
5. Centralization and Length of Term in Office 634
6. The Bolshevik Party's Political Monopoly 638
7. Perversion of Lenin's Concept of Party Unity 649
8. Stalin's Personal Control over the Agencies of Repression 652
9. Ends and Means in the Socialist Revolution 660
10. Incomprehension and Lack of Solidarity 673
11. Bureaucratization and Degeneration 685
12. Conservatism and Dogmatism in Some Revolutionary Cadres 695
13. The Socialist State in Theory and Practice 702
14. Lack of Effective Popular Control 707
15. Insufficient Education, Culture, and Democratic Tradition 711

PART 4SOME CONSEQUENCES OF STALIN'S PERSONAL DICTATORSHIP*12. Errors in Diplomacy and War 723

1. Stalin's Foreign Policy, 1939-40 723
2. War with Finland 732
3. Stalin's Military-Strategic Blunder of 1941 735
4. Stalin as Military Leader 747
5. Repression During the War 771

13. Crimes and Mistakes in the Postwar Period 781

1. Repression After the War 781
2. Repression in the "People's Democracies" 791
3. Weakening of the Worker-Peasant Alliance 797
4. Official Anti-Semitism 802

14. The Impact of Stalinism on Science and Art 808

1. The Social Sciences 808
2. The Belittling of Lenin's Role 815
3. Stalin's Theoretical "Legacy" 820
4. The Natural Sciences 828
5. Art and Literature 830

15. Socialism and Pseudosocialism 836

1. The Dominance of Bureaucracy 836
2. Political Sectarianism 846
3. Hypocrisy 849
4. Pseudosocialism 852

Conclusion 861

1. Stalin's Last Years 861
2. The Problem of Assessing Stalin's Record 868

Glossary 875Index 881