

C O N T E N T S

Introduction: On First Coming to Cambridge	3
1. Growing Up in Special Places	15
2. Harvard in the 1930s	43
3. American Agriculture and the New Deal	55
4. Getting Ready for Keynes	68
5. Going to the Temple	92
6. Moving On—Toward War	104
7. Now Comes War	132
8. Luce, Keynes, and “The American Century”	153
9. Surveying the Consequences of War	172
10. A New War Beginning	191
11. Back to Harvard: New Economics and New Voices	222
12. Stevenson and the Liberals	251

13. The Affluent Society : Parting Company with the Mainstream	273
14. Kennedy, Sputnik , and “Liberal Growthmanship”	311
15. On the New Frontier	338
16. India	378
17. Tragedy, Triumph, Tragedy	407
18. The New Industrial State	435
19. Collisions	452
20. Galbraith and Nixon: Two Keynesian Presidents	478
21. The Price of Hypocrisy	500
22. The Great Unraveling	522
23. The Economics of Joy	563
24. Joy Fades	591
25. Century’s End	616
Conclusion: The Galbraith Legacy	647
Notes	671
Acknowledgments	785
Index	789