

Contents

Chapter One

Anthropological Play	1
Play, Culture, and Anthropology	4
Play: Definitions, Classifications, and Reductions	7
Playing Anthropologist	7

Chapter Two

The Invention of Childhood	9
Conceiving Childhood: The First Invention	9
Reinventions of Childhood	13
The American Cultivation of Childhood: 1830–1945	14
The Cult of Childhood: 1945–1970	17
The Culture of Childhood and Anthropologists' Metaphors for Children	20
The Child as Primitive	21
The Child as Copycat	23
The Child as Personality Trainee	23
The Child as Monkey	24
The Child as Critic	25
The Great Pretenders	26

Chapter Three

Describing Play: Ethnographic Reports	27
Asia	30
Oceania	31

Central and South America	33
North America	35
Africa	37
Near East	38
Europe	38
Summary	39
 Chapter Four
Staging Play: Evolutionary and Developmental Studies	41
Stages and Survivals	42
Recapitulation: G. Stanley Hall	46
On Morals and Marbles: Jean Piaget	50
The Ontogeny of Play	52
Staging Play: Comment and Critique	54
Summary	59
 Chapter Five
Preserving Play: Diffusionism and Particularism	61
Game Diffusion and the Patolli–Pachisi Debate	62
Particularism: The Facts of Play	66
William Wells Newell: American Children's Games and Songs	67
Early Collections and Classifications	69
Walter Roth: Australian Aborigine Games	74
Eldson Best: Maori Children's Games	77
Paul G. Brewster: Game Collections and Classifications	79
Brian Sutton-Smith: New Zealand and American Children's Games	82
Dorothy Howard: Australian Children's Games	85
Iona and Peter Opie: English Children's Games and Rhymes	87
Favorite Collectors' Items	91
Summary	92
 Chapter Six
Socializing Play: Functional Analysis	98
A. R. Radcliffe-Brown and Bronisław Malinowski	98
Functionalists and Play	99
Socializing Play: The Kibbutz	106
Socializing Play: The Australian Aborigine	108
Socializing Play: The Kpelle	108
✧ Play and Sex Roles	110
Games and Power Roles	115
Imitation, Imagination, and Culture	116

Play: Socialization, Satirization, or Innovation?	124
Summary	133

Chapter Seven

Projecting Play: Culture and Personality	135
Configurationists	136
Psychocultural Analysis	141
Freud on Play	145
Projecting Play: The Pilagá	150
Projecting Play: The Duau	153
New Methodologies: The Hopi and the Balinese	155
African Children's Play: The Luba, Sanga, and Yeke	166
Freudians on Play	174
Statistics and Culture: Freud and Learning Theory	179
Projecting Play in Six Cultures	184
Games and Culture	196
Summary	207

Chapter Eight

Saying Play: Communication Studies	210
The Difference That Makes a Difference: Gregory Bateson	211
Play and Paradox: The Message "This Is Play"	214
The Single Signal	220
Winking or Blinking? Text and Context	221
Saying Play: The Mescalero Apache Child	228
Saying Play: The American Preschool Child	228
Children's Play in a Research Laboratory: Organizing Transformations	229
Children's Play in a Day-Care Center: Sideways Transformations	232
Summary	245

Chapter Nine

Minding Play: Structural and Cognitive Studies	248
The Player's Perspective	252
The Researcher's Perspective	257
Minding Play: Piaget versus Sutton-Smith	268
Piaget's Assimilation of Play	269
Play and Learning	272
Rhymes and Reasons: Children's Verbal Play	283
Play Languages	291
Verbal Dueling	293
Riddles	296

Vocabulary Games	297
Narratives	298
Summary	299
 Chapter Ten
Defining Play: Ecology, Ethology, and Experiments	302
Environmental Definitions: Toys and Niches	303
Behavioral Definitions: Child Ethology	308
Play and Exploration	315
Behavioral Definitions: Experimental Studies	318
Play and Creativity	321
Summary	323
 Chapter Eleven
Conclusion: New Metaphors for Old	325
 Chapter Twelve
Selected References and Films	332
Films on Children's Play	334
Other Films of Interest to Play Researchers	339
 References	 344
 Index	 375