

Contents

Acknowledgments	page xii
Preface	xv
Note on abbreviated citations	xvii

The door-scraper in the Wild Wood: an informal lesson in frame metonymy 1

1 Conditional constructions, mental spaces, and semantic compositionality 4

1.1	Conditionals and conditional reasoning	4
1.2	Constructional meaning and compositionality	9
1.3	Mental spaces and constructions	16
1.4	A word about our data and methods	21
1.5	The grammatical “door-scraper”: compositionality and frames	24
1.6	Where we’re headed	27

2 Prediction, alternativity, and epistemic stance 28

2.1	Conditionals and mental-space set-ups	28
2.2	Prediction and reasoning	31
2.3	Alternativity and “biconditional” interpretation	35
2.4	Prediction and epistemic stance: background and backshifting	43
2.5	Epistemic stance and mental-space set-ups	45
2.6	Conclusions	54

3 Tense, epistemic distance, and embedded spaces 56

3.1	The polysemy of past-tense forms	56
3.2	Epistemic distance	57
3.3	Degrees of distancing	61
3.4	Perspective and mental-space embeddings	65
3.5	Counterfactuality: distance and mental-space embeddings	71
3.6	Conclusions	78

4	Future and present forms in conditional constructions	80
4.1	Verb forms and constructional meaning	80
4.2	Will futures and gonna futures	81
4.3	Positive-interest will	83
4.4	Future will in protases of non-predictive conditionals	87
4.5	Present forms with future meaning	89
4.6	Generic meanings	95
4.7	Definitions and tautologies	102
4.8	Specialized constructions with was to / were to, if not for, and should	105
4.9	Conclusions	108
5	Non-alternatives and alternatives: mental spaces in different domains	110
5.1	Non-prediction and non-alternativity	110
5.2	Speech-act conditionals	113
5.3	Epistemic conditionals, inference, and causality	117
5.4	Non-predictiveness and verb forms	121
5.5	Predictive epistemic conditionals	124
5.6	Metalinguistic conditionals: predictive and non-predictive uses	126
5.7	A note on meta-metaphorical conditionals	132
5.8	Metaspatial conditionals	136
5.9	A note on frequency	137
5.10	Evidence from German parallels	139
5.11	Conclusions	140
6	Then and even if: mental-space deixis and referential uniqueness	142
6.1	Then and biconditionality: what is the link?	142
6.2	Deictic semantics and mental-space reference	144
6.3	Then in non-predictives	146
6.4	Then and generic conditionals	151
6.5	Concessive conditionals: prediction without specific alternatives	155
6.6	Even if and then : the exceptions that prove the rule	161
6.7	A final note on even then	168
6.8	Conclusions	170
7	Clause order and space building: if, because, unless, and except if	172
7.1	Introduction	172
7.2	If -constructions: variation in intonation and order of clauses	173

7.3	Because and since : causal explanation and information structure in space building	180
7.4	Unless : exceptive space building	183
7.5	Embedded constructions with unless	187
7.6	Conclusions	202
8	Uniqueness and negative stance: only if and if only	204
8.1	Only if : space uniqueness and negative meaning	204
8.2	If only : wishes, pragmatic scales, and minimal differences	211
8.3	Monoclausal if-only wishes	217
8.4	Tense and epistemic stance in embedded wish- and if-only clauses	220
8.5	Then in if-only conditionals	222
8.6	Scopal relations, polysemy, and compositionality	223
8.7	Negative epistemic stance and space-builders	227
8.8	The if that NEG construction	230
8.9	Positive-stance if-only ?	233
8.10	Conclusions	236
9	Coordinate constructions and conditional meaning	237
9.1	And -conjuncts as predictive conditionals	237
9.2	Imperative and -conditionals	242
9.3	Distancing, non-predictives, and other extensions of and -conditionals	246
9.4	Conditional or	248
9.5	Non-clausal P constituents in coordinate conditionals	253
9.6	Paired constituents with no conjunction	255
9.7	Non-clausal coordinate conditionals without conjunctions	259
9.8	“Freestanding” parts of conditionals	263
9.9	Conclusions: constructions and compositionality	266
10	The door-scraper in the Wild Wood: conditional constructions and frame-based space building	269
10.1	Form–function parameters of conditionality	269
10.2	Constructional compositionality and frame-based space building	272
	References	278
	Author index	289
	Subject index	291