

Contents

List of Contributors	vii
Introduction: Understanding Learning from Experience David Boud, Ruth Cohen and David Walker	1
Part 1 Introduction	19
1 Through the Lens of Learning: How the Visceral Experience of Learning Reframes Teaching Stephen Brookfield	21
2 Putting the Heart Back into Learning Denis Postle	33
3 Activating Internal Processes in Experiential Learning John Mulligan	46
4 On Becoming a Maker of Teachers: Journey Down a Long Hall of Mirrors Lee Andresen	59
Part 2 Introduction	71
5 Barriers to Reflection on Experience David Boud and David Walker	73
6 Unlearning Through Experience Angela Brew	87
7 Experiential Learning at a Distance Mary Thorpe	99
8 Learning from Experience in Mathematics John Mason	113
Part 3 Introduction	127
9 How the T-Group Changed My Life: A Sociological Perspective on Experiential Group Work Nod Miller	129

10	Living the Learning: Internalizing Our Model of Group Learning Elizabeth Kasl, Kathleen Dechant and Victoria Marsick	143
11	Experiential Learning and Social Transformation for a Post-apartheid Learning Future Costas Criticos	157
12	Experiential Learning or Learning from Experience: Does it Make a Difference? Robin Usher	169
	Index	181
	The Society for Research into Higher Education	188