Contents

List of illustrations viii
List of contributors xi
Acknowledgements xiii

Introduction: Remembering places of pain and shame 1
WILLIAM LOGAN AND KEIR REEVES

PART I
Massacre and genocide sites 15

1 Let the dead be remembered: interpretation of the Nanjing Massacre Memorial 17
QIAN FENGQI

2 The Hiroshima ‘Peace Memorial’: transforming legacy, memories and landscapes 34
YUSHI UTAKA

3 Auschwitz-Birkenau: the challenges of heritage management following the Cold War 50
KATIE YOUNG

4 ‘Dig a hole and bury the past in it’: reconciliation and the heritage of genocide in Cambodia 68
COLIN LONG AND KEIR REEVES

5 The Myall Creek Memorial: history, identity and reconciliation 82
BRONWYN BATTEN
PART II

Wartime internment sites  97

6 Cowra Japanese War Cemetery
AI KOBAYASHI AND BART ZIINO

7 A cave in Taiwan: comfort women's memories and the local identity
CHOU CHING-YUAN

8 Postcolonial shame: heritage and the forgotten pain of civilian women internees in Java
JOOST COTÉ

9 Difficult memories: the independence struggle as cultural heritage in East Timor
MICHAEL LEACH

PART III

Civil and political prisons  163

10 Port Arthur, Norfolk Island, New Caledonia:
convict prison islands in the Antipodes
JANE LENNON

11 Hoa Lo Museum, Hanoi: changing attitudes to a Vietnamese place of pain and shame
WILLIAM LOGAN

12 Places of pain as tools for social justice in the 'new'
South Africa: black heritage preservation in the 'rainbow' nation's townships
ANGEL DAVID NIEVES

13 Negotiating places of pain in post-conflict Northern Ireland:
debateing the future of the Maze prison/Long Kesh
SARA MCDOWELL
PART IV
Places of benevolent internment

14 Beauty springing from the breast of pain
SPENCER LEINEWEBER

15 ‘No less than a palace’: Kew Asylum, its planned surrounds, and its present-day residents
KEIR REEVES AND DAVID NICHOLS

16 Between the hostel and the detention centre:
possible trajectories of migrant pain and shame in Australia
SARA WILLS

Index
Illustrations

Figures

1.1 Sign pole at the entrance of the Memorial bearing the dates during which the Nanjing Massacre occurred. (Source: Qian, F.Q) 24
1.2 The number of people that China insists were killed during the Nanjing Massacre is engraved on the wall of the Memorial. (Source: Qian, F.Q) 26
1.3 Promotional poster impression of the New Memorial Hall interior after the renovation in 2007. (Source: Qian, F.Q) 27
2.1 Visitors at the Dome on a cloudy morning. (Source: Y. Utaka) 35
2.2 Surroundings of the A-Bomb Dome and Park, from the targeted T-shaped ‘Motoyasu Bridge’. (Source: Y. Utaka) 42
2.3 Hiroshima A-bomb Dome and surroundings. (Courtesy of Hiroshima City Government) 43
2.4 Museums in Kure City, Hiroshima Prefecture (Source: Y. Utaka) 47
3.1 A busy morning at Auschwitz, visitor groups commence their tour nearby the Arbeit Macht Frei gate. (Source: K. Young, 2005) 55
3.2 Taken from the Birkenau gate house, the photograph captures the main route visitors take through the camp. At the end of the rail tracks near the tree line are gas chambers, crematoria 2 and 3, and the International Monument to the Victims of the Auschwitz Concentration Camp. (Source: K. Young, 2005) 58
3.3 Taken from the Birkenau gate house the photograph shows the proximity of Brzezinka to the camp. (Source: K. Young, 2005) 61
4.1 The house of Ta Mok the ‘Butcher’, now a heritage museum in Anlong Veng. (Source: C. Long) 70
4.2 Pol Pot’s grave. (Source: C. Long) 77
4.3 Khmer Rouge figures sculpted out of rock on the road descending from the Dangrek Escarpment near Anlong Veng. (Source: C. Long) 80
5.1 Myall Creek today. (Source: B. Batten) 82
5.2 Example of the small boulders with plaques. (Source: B. Batten) 86
5.3 The final large boulder at the 2003 memorial ceremony. (Source: B. Batten) 87
6.1 Entrance to Japanese War Cemetery, Cowra. (Source: B. Ziino) 106
6.2 Japanese War Cemetery, Cowra. The central monument is inscribed 'In Memory of Japanese War Dead'. The graves are arranged and marked on the plinths behind. (Source: B. Ziino) 107
6.3 Buddhist ceremony conducted shortly after the dedication of the cemetery, 1965. The Bulletin's headline suggests the broader historical and political context of commemoration at Cowra. (Source: The Bulletin) 108
7.1 Map of Shuiyuan Village (Alang Sakura in Truku language) in 1945 drawn from the memories of the aboriginal comfort women. The grey shaded buildings are (from top): the Japanese military warehouse GDT051901-A03; the police station, the Japanese military camp, and the second military camp. (Source: Chou, TWRF). 121
7.2 The cave at Shuiyuan Village, Xiulin Town, Hualian County in 2005. (Source: TWRF volunteer photographer Shen Chun-fan) 122
7.3 The cave in August 2006. (Source: Shen Chia-Ming, one of the university students who attended the comfort women public testimony) 125
8.1 Dutch field of honour, Kalibanteng. (Source: J. Coté, 2007) 130
8.2 Monument to women, Kalibanteng cemetery. (Source: J. Coté, 2007) 132
8.3 One of the few extant pre-war houses that formed part of the Lampersari-Sompok internment camp. (Source: J. Coté, 2007) 136
8.4 Extant building that housed the Lampersari-Sompok internment camp kitchens and administrative centre. (Source: J. Coté, 2007) 137
8.5 Transportation of Dutch women internees through Indonesian Republican lines, c. late 1945. (Source: Antara News Agency archive, Jakarta, with permission) 138
9.1 Indonesian Integration Monument, Dili, depicting a traditional Timorese warrior breaking loose from the chains of Portuguese colonialism. (Source: M. Leach) 148
9.2 Conserved prisoner graffiti, Comarca Balide. (Source: M. Leach) 151
9.3 Monument to the victims of the Suai massacre in 1999, Suai. (Source: M. Leach) 155
9.4 House destroyed by militia in 1999, Venilale. (Source: M. Leach) 157
10.1 Kingston, Norfolk Island, January 2005. (Source: J. Lennon) 171
10.2 Tourist seaplane, Port Arthur, November 2004. (Source: J. Lennon) 173
10.3 Ruined cells, Ducos, New Caledonia, August 2007. (Source: J. Lennon) 175
11.1 The French colonial Maison Centrale, restored and re-used as the Hoa Lo Museum. (Source: W. Logan) 183
11.2 Contemporary bas relief depiction of heroic Vietnamese prisoners suffering under the colonial authorities. (Source: W. Logan) 185
11.3 The ‘Tree of Love’ in its plot of land excised from the commercial site. (Source: W. Logan) 188
11.4 The memorial to revolutionary martyrs and heroes, overshadowed by the Hanoi Towers. (Source: W. Logan) 191
12.1 Langa Pass Office after renovation, Cape Town, South Africa. (Source: A.D. Nieves) 200
12.2 Hector Pieterson Museum Square. (Source: A.D. Nieves) 206
12.3 Hector Pieterson Memorial exterior, Soweto, Johannesburg. (Source: A.D. Nieves) 210
13.1 The prison entrance. (Source: S. McDowell) 216
13.2 The Nissen huts of Long Kesh. (Source: S. McDowell) 218
13.3 One of the infamous H-Blocks. (Source: S. McDowell) 219
14.1 Western side of the Kalaupapa Peninsula, Board of Hospitals and Settlement 1936. McVeigh Home is in the upper left, Bishop Home in the middle and Bay View Home in the lower right. (Source: Hawaii State Archives). 235
14.2 St Philomena Church, Kalawao, Kalaupapa Settlement, 2004. (Source: S. Leineweber) 237
14.3 St Elizabeth Chapel, Bishop Home, Kalaupapa Settlement, 2005. (Source: S. Leineweber) 241
15.1 Willsmere’s isolation from the rest of Kew remains, as this photograph from the west of the buildings demonstrates. (Source: D. Nichols) 252
15.2 Graeme Tuer’s image of the main Asylum building in the early 1960s. (Courtesy of G. Tuer) 253
15.3 The verandahs of the residential areas at Willsmere are subtly sectioned off so that each resident has a kind of ‘front yard’ space. (Source: D. Nichols) 258
16.1 and 16.2 Woomera Immigration Reception and Processing Centre, South Australia: opened in November 1999 and closed in April 2003, now ‘mothballed’ but available as a contingency centre. (Source: S. Wills) 264

Tables

5.1 Copy of the 2004 Visitor Survey. 91
7.1 Basic information on the eight Hualian aboriginal comfort women. (Sources: Data collected by TWRF, unpublished; Wang and Chiang 1997) 123