

contents

introduction	The Toxic 'Truth' About Our Tots, Tweens and Teens	1
chapter one	Back to the Future: Childhood Through the Ages	11
chapter two	'Bling, Bling, Why Don't You Give Me a Ho?': The Commercial Theft of Childhood	37
chapter three	Fashion Victims: The 'Celebrification' and Sexualisation of Children Through Clothing	66
chapter four	Toy Stories: Growing Up in a Material World (written with Lisa Hill)	87
chapter five	Boys and Their Toys: Guns, Swords and Testosterone	109 chapter six	The D'oh of Homer: The Questionable Wisdom of the Electronic Babysitter	124 chapter seven	Sense and Censorship: Film and the Uncomfortable Question of Parental Guidance	152
chapter eight	Once Upon a Time: Disney, Harry Potter, Hans Christian Andersen and Other Grimm Tales	173
chapter nine	Give Me Some MySpace: The Cyberlution of Social Networking and Electronic Games	200
chapter ten	My Little Prince/ss: Why Kids Don't Always Have to Feel 'Special'	231
conclusion	The Parent Trap	252
Notes		265
Select Bibliography		299
Acknowledgements		315
Index		317