

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	ix
Introduction	1
1 Wonderful world, beautiful people: The 1960s' counter culture and its ideological relationship to women	22
2 Repressive representations: Patriarchy, femininities and 1960s' rock	32
3 The personal is political: Women's liberation, sexuality, gender, freedom and repression	44
4 Try, just a little bit harder: Janis Joplin and the search for personal identity	51
5 The times they are a-changin': Folk and the singer songwriter	72
6 The lonely road: Joni Mitchell, Blue and female subjectivity	78
7 Daughters of chaos: Patti Smith, Siouxsie Sioux and the feminisation of rock	95
8 Challenging the feminine: Annie Lennox, androgyny and illusions of identity	119
9 Madonna, eroticism, autoeroticism and desire	136
10 k.d. lang, a certain kind of woman	152
11 Talkin' 'bout a revolution: Tracy Chapman, political uprisings, domestic violence and love	171

CONTENTS

12	Authenticity, truthfulness and community: Tori Amos, Courtney Love, P.J. Harvey and Björk	196
13	Artifice and the imperatives of commercial success: From Brit Pop to the Spice Girls	214
	Discography	230
	Index	236