

Contents

Prefatory Remarks Joshua A. Fishman	vii
Introduction Isabelle T. Kreindler	1
PART ONE: LANGUAGES OF THE SOVIET WEST
Language Development and Policy in Estonia Toivo U. Raun	13
Belorussification, Russification and Polonization. Trends in the Belorussian Language 1890-1982 Paul Wexler	37
Language Politics in the Ukraine Roman Solchanyk	57
PART TWO: LANGUAGES OF THE CAUCASUS AND CRIMEA
Crimean Tatar: The Fate of a Severed Tongue Edward Lazzerini	109
Politics and Linguistics in Daghestan Alexandre Bennigsen and Chantal Lemercier-Quelquejay	125
The Formation and Development of Literary Avar Simon Crisp	143
Georgian: A Noble Past, a Secure Future George B. Hewitt	163
PART THREE: LANGUAGES OF SOVIET CENTRAL ASIA
The Politics of Language Reform in Kazakhstan Martha Brill Olcott	183

Language Development in Soviet Uzbekistan William Fierman	205
PART FOUR: LANGUAGES OF INTERIOR RUSSIA
The Mordvinian Languages: A Survival Saga Isabelle T. Kreindler	237
Remarks on the Chuvash Language: Past, Present and Future John R. Krueger (A Bibliographical Note on the Chuvash Language) Isabelle T. Kreindler	265
PART FIVE: A NON-TERRITORIAL LANGUAGE
Di Yiddish-Imperye: The Dashed Hopes for a Yiddish Cultural Empire in the Soviet Union Rakhmiel Peltz and Mark W. Kiel	277
PART SIX: THE NON-RUSSIAN LANGUAGES AND RUSSIAN
The Impact of Group Bilingualism in the SU Harald Haarmann	313
The Non-Russian Languages and the Challenge of Russian: The Eastern versus the Western Tradition Isabelle T. Kreindler	345
About the Authors	369
Index	373