Contents

List of Illustrations \hspace{1cm} ix

Acknowledgments \hspace{1cm} xi

Abbreviations \hspace{1cm} xiii

Chapter One
Introduction \hspace{1cm} 3

Chapter Two
Theory and History \hspace{1cm} 18
  Theories of the Early Public Sphere \hspace{1cm} 21
  Historical Revisionism \hspace{1cm} 35
  The Paradox of Innovation \hspace{1cm} 39

Chapter Three
Secrecy and Privilege \hspace{1cm} 44
  Principle \hspace{1cm} 50
  Contradictions between Secrecy Norms and Political Practice \hspace{1cm} 61

Chapter Four
Traditional Communicative Practice \hspace{1cm} 68
  Center to Periphery \hspace{1cm} 69
  Periphery to Center \hspace{1cm} 75
  Grievances and Petitions \hspace{1cm} 81

Chapter Five
News \hspace{1cm} 100
  Oral News: Rumors and Ballads \hspace{1cm} 109
  Scribal News \hspace{1cm} 118

Chapter Six
Printing and the Culture of Print \hspace{1cm} 133
  Presses and Printers \hspace{1cm} 134
  Legal and Political Issues \hspace{1cm} 140
  Authors and Sellers \hspace{1cm} 145
  Popular Literacy and Reading \hspace{1cm} 150
  Illicit Books \hspace{1cm} 159
  Appeals to Public Opinion in Religion to 1640 \hspace{1cm} 165
Chapter Seven
Printing and Politics in the 1640s 174
  Imposition of Dialogic Order on Conflict 176
  Printed News 184
  Printed Political Texts 197
  Invoking Public Opinion 209

Chapter Eight
Petitions 217
  Petitions as Political Propaganda 221
  Petitions as Indicators of Opinion in the Periphery 231
  Petitions and Printing 240
  The Paradox of Innovation in Petitioning 254
  The Authority of Opinion 257
  Toward Liberal Democracy 262

Chapter Nine
Epilogue 266
  Deism, Science, and Opinion 270
  Contemporary Implications 275

Index 281
Illustrations

1. Note taking in Parliament at trial of the earl of Strafford, from the British Library, 669f.4[12] (1641) 45
2. Newsletter on events in the Short Parliament, 1640, from Public Record Office SPD 16/451/no. 57 46
3. London peace petition, from the British Library, E83[22] (1642) 89
5. [Henry Walker], Taylors Physicke has purged the Divel, from the British Library, E163[9] (1641) 182
8. Newspaper, the Moderate Intelligencer, from the British Library, E452[28] (1648) 189
10. Newspaper, the Scotish Dove, from the British Library, E79[5] (1643) 194
12. Petition from Buckingham, from the British Library, 669f.3[33] (1642) 232
13. Printed edition of petition used by Independents to collect signatures, from the British Library, 669f.12[63] (1648) 242
15. Petition from parishioners against their cleric, from the British Library, 669f.4[28] (1641) 244
16. Printed slip of paper announcing place and time to sign a petition, from the British Library E61[3] (1643) 249