

CONTENTS

Foreword by Arno A. Bellack	v
Preface	vii
One The Profusion of Individualized Programs	1
Types of Programs	3
Tutoring	3
Correspondence Courses	3
Self-Paced Unit Plans	3
Programmed and Computerized
Instruction	4
Independent Study Programs	5
Grouping for Individualization	6
Administrative Plans	7
Personal Programs	8
Remediation and Teaching Exceptional
Children	8
Miscellaneous Individualized Programs
and Suggestions	9

	Synthesis	11
	Procedures	12
	Analysis	12
	Formulation	12
	Development	12
	Research	13
	Communication and Implementation	13
Two	Classifying the Programs	15
	Sources of Confusion	15
	Elementary Classification of Existing Programs	18
Three	Describing the Programs	31
	Elements of Instructional Programs	31
	Profiles and Analyses of Instructional Programs	38
	The Extremes of Conservatism and         Liberalism	39
	Programs Emphasizing Individual Pacing	40
	Time and Resources: Independent Study         Programs	46
	Leicestershire Schools	47
	Summerhill	48
	Profiles of Practice	50
Four	Conclusion	53
	Profiles	59
	Profile 1: Watertown High School (1966–1967): A Traditional Humanities Program	61
	Profile 2: Knowplace: A Student-Run School 1967–68	62
	Profile 3: Individually Paced Instruction: The Oakleaf Project	63
	Profile 4: Programmed Instruction (Linear)	64

Profile 5: The Dalton Laboratory Plan	65
Profile 6: The Winnetka Plan	66
Profile 7: An Independent Study Program: Abington	67
Profile 8: Leicestershire Schools	68
Profile 9: Summerhill	69
Profile 10: Actual Performance Compared with Leicestershire Profile	70
Sources	71
Figure 1. An Elementary Classification of Individualized Instructional Programs	22
Figure 2. A Rough Classification of Individualization through Group Practices	23