

Contents

Preface	xvii
----------------	------

PRELUDE The President and the Mounds	25
---	----

The invention of stratigraphy • Skeletons—and what they can teach • Raising the question: Where did the first Americans come from?

BOOK ONE

1 Columbus, the Vikings, and the Skraelings	36
--	----

The remarkable map • Did Columbus discover North America? Was Columbus the first anthropologist? • The Kensington Stone—real or fake? The Vikings did discover North America • Helge Ingstad's proof • Fröydis the Fury • Snorre, the first white North American • The "screaming shrunken heads"

2 The Seven Cities of Cibola	55
-------------------------------------	----

Las Casas' J'accuse • North America was conquered from the South • The adventurous journey of a man named "Head of a Cow" • Eight years of torment • The first description of the buffalo • The priest from Nice • Estevanico, the Moor from Azamor, discovers Cibola • Coronado conquers the pueblos • Captain Whiskers • Pueblo life

3 Hymn to the Southwest—From Bandelier to Kidder	86
---	----

Hiking through the desert • The wild Southwest • The first scientists • "Medicine Flower" Cushing • Bandelier and Morgan • The scientist writes a novel • Kidder in Pecos • "You'd better get some horses" • "Theory is a dirty word" • The last men of Pecos • The first relative chronology

Contents

- 4 The Rise and Fall of Pueblo Aztec 108
 An old man remembers • No Aztecs ever lived in Aztec • The child prodigies • Earl Morris excavates • Is too much being excavated? • Kivas: the men keep their secrets • Many people, many rooms • Aztec was inhabited twice • A ghost town from A.D. 1252
- 5 Mummies, Mummies . . . 121
 Mrs. Morris, the clever tomboy • When is a kiva a kiva? • Well-preserved Little Alice • When is a mummy a mummy? • The mummy that won a blue ribbon at a dog show • Shoes without feet, necklaces without necks • Child victims of an epidemic • No militarism in pre-Columbian North America • The unhealthy life of primitive peoples • The mummy cist and the four flutes

BOOK TWO

- 6 What Is Archaeology, and Wherefore Do We Study It? 132
 Anthropology, the science of man; archaeology, the science of what man has left behind • The problem is more complex than it seems • "Conceive with passion and develop with deliberation" • The special position of North American archaeology • Courses in archaeology at 137 universities and colleges • 536 museums with permanent collections of Indian relics • Evolution of Stone Age man in the North American "laboratory"
- 7 Strata and Shards 141
 Kidder tells a story—and breaks the laws of stratigraphy • How do strata arise? • Thirty-eight strata: 9,860 years • Man's culture begins with pottery • Who invented it? • Bo-Bo and pre-historic roast pork • Dating pottery by thermoluminescence
- 8 The Tick of Time 152
 Fifty-three sciences as handmaidens to archaeology • Willard F. Libby and Carbon 14 • We are all

Contents

radioactive • The fascinating laboratory • Sensational first results • But are the dates always correct? • How the hydrogen bomb interferes • The Nobel Prize for an aid to archaeology

9 The Endless Tree 162

Dr. Douglass and sunspots • 1929: dawn of a new era • What happened between 1650 and 1725? • "Overlapping" • How exact is tree-ring dating? • Pueblo Bonito and the reluctant Indians • A few bales of purple velvet • Tree-ring dating elsewhere—even at Trier Cathedral

BOOK THREE

10 Along the Road . . . 176

Absolute chronology for Pueblos and Basket Makers • Basket Makers I-III and Pueblos I-IV: a swift survey • A necklace of 5,700 shell beads • The National Park Service and the mini-museums • Casa Grande, Montezuma Castle, Betatakin • Colton founds a museum • The fertile black sand • 800 ruins around Wupatki • Oraibi—older than Berlin • Jung hears portentous words in Taos • Goethe on America • The lost city of Lukachukai

11 The Inquisitive Brothers of Mesa Verde 200

The killing of Richard Wetherill • Jacquetta Hawkes's verdict • The Cliff Palace • Jackson the photographer • Jets threaten the ruins • Kidder on Wetherill's tracks • Who came before the Basket Makers?

12 Those Who Have Vanished: Cochise, Mogollon, and the Hohokam 207

Who came first? Historical table • The seven phases of Hohokam culture • City of snakes • Haury's second dig • Influences from the south? • Playing ball • A Hohokam invents etching • "Killed" pottery • America's greatest canal builders

13 The Story of Maize 222

The great problem of domestication • Where did

Contents

agriculture arise? • Man's most important inventions • "Cain" and "Abel": domestication lay behind them • Troublesome turkeys • Bombing birds • What was domesticated in North America? • Wanderings of the potato and tomato • The golden spikes • Corn dies out without man • Where did it originate? • The false fossil • The riddle solved

BOOK FOUR

- 14 Discovery of the Mounds 236
311,353 cubic feet of earth • More labor than the Egyptian pyramids • Records of the first discoverers • Old Tippecanoe • Generals and churchmen • The dismounted cavalry officer • Destruction • The Smithsonian Institution • Three books
- 15 Wild Theories from Atlantis to Mu 249
Indians are not human • The theory of the witch hunters • The ten lost tribes of Israel • The Mormons • Bishop Ussher dates the Creation • The Atlanteans' "floating vehicles" • The 64 million inhabitants of Mu • The psychology of crackpots
- 16 Solving the Riddle of the Mounds 258
The unusual golf course • Snake Mound in Ohio • Pyramids in the United States • 2,700 years of Mound Builders • Adena and Hopewell • Cahokia Mound: larger in area than the Great Pyramid • The treasure trove • $2,000,000 worth of pearls • The imaginary Iron Age • Great Sun and Stinkers
- 17 The American Goliath 281
The farmer and the minister • Five tons of gypsum • The biggest fossil in the world • Emerson has no doubts • From circus to museum • A poet doubts the Calaveras skull • The Piltdown scandal • Ice Age man in North America?

Contents

BOOK FIVE

- 18 Folsom Man 290
A black cowboy discovers a bone • The world marvels • First traces of Ice Age man in North America • Figgins finds proof; Kidder and Roberts confirm it • Folsom man hunted animals extinct 10,000 years • The buffalo skeletons with missing tails
- 19 Sandia Man 295
The dusty cave • The Boy Scouts give up • The giant sloth's claw • Human traces in the fifth stratum? • "And then we found it!" • Weapons without men • The disputed age of Sandia man
- 20 The World of the Early Hunters 305
An influential man • A movie producer writes about the Early Hunters • Discovery at the Lindenmeier ranch • 6,000 stone implements • America's first gambling chips? • The Clovis point • The plaster block in the laboratory • The geologists and physicists disagree • The nine mammoth calves of Lehner farm • Dating problems • The Tule Springs hearths • Ortega y Gasset on man • The world's oldest shoe factory
- 21 When the Great Beasts Died 317
The old man of Kaw-Ray-Kaw-Saw-Kaw • How long does it take to make a spearhead? • The beauty of weapons • Atlatl—man's first secret weapon • Description of a bison hunt • Fire against animals • When and why did the great beasts die? • Man, killer and prey
- INTERMEZZO 22 The Towers of Silence 327
A farmer discovers strange buildings • 500 towers • War and death • The gruesome find • Mummies • Itchy Fingers, Big Bruiser, and Bold Titania • Who were these people, and who exterminated them?

Contents

23	The First American, or The Girls from Midland and Laguna	335
	Nebraska man turns out to be a peccary • Minnesota Minnie • Midland and Tepexpan man belong to Homo sapiens • Contradictory views • An African man 1,750,000 years old? • Neanderthal man—a blind alley • Our direct ancestor: Cro-Magnon man • “If you were riding in the subway and a Cro-Magnon chap got on, you probably wouldn’t notice him” • A teen-ager discovers a skull • The skull travels halfway around the world • Dr. Berger’s dating
24	The Way Across Bering Strait	344
	The mist-shrouded sea • Vitus Bering • “They did not know they were the first Americans” • Indirect proof • “Southward, Ho!”? • Pace of expansion • Conquest of two continents • The riddle of retarded civilizations
EPILOGUE	The Story of Ishi	349
	At the slaughterhouse • The man who spoke no known language • The first word: siwini • Hunting down the last Stone Age men • A Stone Age man becomes a museum janitor • Ishi learns and teaches • The difficult art of firemaking • North America’s last Stone Age man is buried
	Bibliography	364
	Notes	381
	Credits for Drawings	395
	Index	397