

CONTENTS

|  |      |
|--|------|
| Introduction                                 | XI   |
| Acknowledgements                             | XVII |
| 1. THEORIES ABOUT GROUP BEHAVIOUR .....      | 1    |
| What is a Group? .....                       | 1    |
| Theory or Research? .....                    | 3    |
| Psychodynamic Theory .....                   | 3    |
| Authority .....                              | 6    |
| Responsibility .....                         | 7    |
| Boundaries .....                             | 8    |
| Projection .....                             | 8    |
| Organisational Structure .....               | 9    |
| Large Groups .....                           | 9    |
| 'Habeas Emotum' .....                        | 11   |
| Interaction Theory .....                     | 13   |
| Six-Category Intervention Analysis .....     | 16   |
| 2 RESEARCH INTO GROUP BEHAVIOUR .....        | 19   |
| Some Properties of Groups .....              | 21   |
| Background .....                             | 21   |
| Participation Pattern .....                  | 22   |
| Communication .....                          | 23   |
| Cohesion .....                               | 23   |
| Atmosphere .....                             | 24   |
| Standards .....                              | 24   |
| Sociometric Pattern .....                    | 25   |
| Structure and Organisation .....             | 25   |
| Procedures .....                             | 26   |
| Goals .....                                  | 26   |
| Social and Task Dimensions .....             | 27   |
| Group Maintenance and Group Task Functions . | 28   |
| The Role of Leadership .....                 | 31   |
| Groups in Motion .....                       | 33   |

|    |   |     |
|----|---|-----|
|    | Field Studies in Tertiary Education .....                   | 33  |
|    | Teacher as Researcher .....                                 | 36  |
| 3  | RESEARCH INTO LEARNING .....                                | 38  |
|    | Student-Performance .....                                   | 38  |
|    | Learning Styles .....                                       | 39  |
|    | Intellectual Development .....                              | 41  |
|    | Implications of Learning Research .....                     | 43  |
| 4  | CONCEPTS IN COMMUNICATION .....                             | 45  |
|    | The Process of Communication .....                          | 45  |
|    | The Content of Communication .....                          | 50  |
|    | Improving Communication .....                               | 51  |
|    | Feedback .....  | 53  |
|    | Transactional Analysis .....                                | 54  |
| 5. | AIMS AND OBJECTIVES OF LEARNING GROUPS .....                | 61  |
|    | The Nature of Aims .....                                    | 62  |
|    | Intrinsic and Extrinsic Aims .....                          | 63  |
|    | Aims and Objectives .....                                   | 64  |
|    | The Place of Aims and Objectives in GroupTeaching ..... | 65  |
|    | Sources of Educational Aims .....                           | 68  |
|    | What are Groups For? .....                                  | 71  |
|    | Typical Aims and Purposes for Groups .....                  | 73  |
| 6. | TASKS AND TECHNIQUES .....                                  | 78  |
|    | Setting Tasks .....   | 79  |
|    | Sources of Tasks .....                                      | 79  |
|    | Types of Task .....   | 81  |
|    | Structuring Tasks .....                                     | 82  |
|    | Game Tasks .....  | 86  |
|    | A Variety of Techniques .....                               | 88  |
|    | Controlled Discussion .....                                 | 89  |
|    | Step-by-Step Discussion .....                               | 90  |
|    | Snowball Groups .....                                       | 91  |
|    | Cross-Over Groups .....                                     | 91  |
|    | Horseshoe Groups .....                                      | 94  |
|    | Seminars .....  | 95  |
|    | Tutorials .....   | 102 |
|    | Syndicates .....  | 104 |
|    | Case Studies .....  | 106 |
|    | Peer Tutoring .....   | 107 |

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| Projects .....  | 108 |
| Games and Simulations .....                               | 115 |
| Free or Associative Discussion .....                      | 123 |
| Brainstorming .....                                       | 126 |
| Synectics .....   | 129 |
| Why Have Variety? .....                                   | 132 |
|   |     |
| 7. THE TUTOR'S JOB .....                                  | 134 |
| Strategic Considerations .....                            | 135 |
| Group Size .....  | 135 |
| Group Membership .....                                    | 136 |
| Physical Conditions .....                                 | 139 |
| Planning What to do .....                                 | 142 |
| Tactical Cconsiderations .....                            | 145 |
| Roles .....   | 145 |
| Rules .....   | 152 |
| Leadership Interventions.....                             | 154 |
| Asking Questions .....                                    | 161 |
|   |     |
| 8. LEARNING GROUPS IN CONTEXT .....                       | 168 |
| The Learning Milieu .....                                 | 168 |
| The Physical Environment .....                            | 169 |
| Educational Matters .....                                 | 171 |
| Groups As Part Of The Curriculum .....                    | 176 |
| Timetabling Group Discussion .....                        | 176 |
| Some Case Studies In Group Teaching .....                 | 183 |
| Developing Particular Skills .....                        | 184 |
| Getting the Most From Lab Work .....                      | 193 |
| Making Learning 'Real' .....                              | 201 |
| Providing a Variety of Experiences .....                  | 203 |
| Autonomous Learning .....                                 | 205 |
| Designing Courses .....                                   | 216 |
| Evaluating Group Work .....                               | 218 |
| Postscript .....  | 219 |
|   |     |
| 9. EVALUATING GROUPS .....                                | 221 |
| Evaluation as Learning .....                              | 223 |
| Some Evaluation Methods for Small GroupTeaching ..... | 224 |
| Managing the Evaluation .....                             | 229 |
| Checklists .....  | 230 |
| Observation of Discussion .....                           | 230 |
| Group Behaviour Questionnaire .....                       | 232 |
| Statements for Evaluation of GroupFunction .....      | 234 |

|                                |     |
|--------------------------------|-----|
| Analysing Group Activity ..... | 233 |
| Group Behaviour .....          | 235 |

|   |     |
|---|-----|
| 10. TRAINING METHODS AND ACTIVITIES .....         | 237 |
| Practice Groups .....                             | 237 |
| Teaching Groups .....                             | 242 |
| Task Groups .....                                 | 242 |
| Training Activities .....                         | 243 |
| Paired Introductions .....                        | 244 |
| Walking Interviews .....                          | 245 |
| Prepared Video .....                              | 245 |
| A Contract for Small Group Discussion .           | 247 |
| Consultants and Assessors Game .....              | 253 |
| Building a Team .....                             | 261 |
| NASA Exercise .....                               | 264 |
| Teamwork Checklist .....                          | 271 |
| Styles of Teaching and Learning .....             | 272 |
| Peer Consulting - A MonitoringTechnique ..... | 275 |
| Planning a Course .....                           | 276 |
| Card Exchange - A Starting Exercise ...           | 278 |
| Learning Through Groups .....                     | 287 |
| A Variety of Group Techniques .....               | 280 |
| Small Group Teaching Workshop .....               | 281 |
| BIBLIOGRAPHY .....                                | 289 |
| RESOURCES .....                                   | 308 |
| INDEX .....                                       | 309 |