

Contents

Foreword	vii
Howard Gardner
Acknowledgments	xi
Introduction: Learning from Students' Work	1
David Allen
PART I: DESCRIBING CHILDREN'S WORK
1. Wondering to Be Done: The Collaborative Assessment Conference	21
Steve Seidel
2. Looking at Students and Their Work: Supporting Diverse Learners with the Primary Language Record	40
Beverly Falk
3. Studying Children: The Philadelphia Teachers' Learning Cooperative	66
Helen Featherstone
PART II: PROTOCOLS FOR EXAMINING STUDENTS' WORK
4. The Tuning Protocol: Opening Up Reflection	87
David Allen
5. Three Takes on Accountability: The California Protocol	105
Joel Kammer
6. Taking Responsibility for Our Work: Roundtables at University Heights High School	123
Paul Allison

PART III: CONTEXTS THAT WORK

7. Portfolios, Students' Work, and Teachers' Practice: An Elementary School Redefines Assessment Sherry P. King and Lauren Campbell-Allan	147
8. Building a Culture of Inquiry: The School Quality Review Initiative Debra R. Smith and David J. Ruff	164
9. A Richer Picture of Student Work: The Digital Portfolio David Niguidula	183
Afterword: What's in It for the Kids? Helen Featherstone	199
Appendix: Resources—Organizations and Publications	211
Index	213
About the Contributors	217