

Contents

Introduction	1
1. Theory of the Fantastic	9
The Fantastic as Hesitation: Todorov	12
Freud and the Uncanny	21
2. Feminist Theory and the Fantastic	38
The Fantastic as Subversion: Jackson	40
The Liminal and the Abject	46
3. The She-Devil? or, Jacques Cazotte's Le Diable amoureux	65
The Fairy Tale and the Origins of the Fantastic	65
Cazotte: Illuminism and Enlightenment	69
Alvare's Initiation	72
Woman or demon?	76
Le Diable amoureux as Domestic Fiction	79
The Prodigal's Return	84
4. Romanticism Raises the Dead—Gautier's Morte amoureuse	89
The Crisis in Paternal Order	90
The Rise of the Fantastic	98
Théophile Gautier's La Morte amoureuse	103
Wanted: Dead or Alive?	106
Paradise: Lost and Found	116
5. Gender/Genre: Nodier's Inès de las Sierras	122
The Nineteenth-Century Family and the Rise of Individualism in France	123
Charles Nodier	130
Gender & Genre: Inès de las Sierras	135
6. Hell Hath no Fury Like...: Mérimée's Vénus d'Ille	155
Prosper Mérimée & La Vénus d'Ille	157
Vénus and Inès	170
7. The Degeneration of Identity: Maupassant's Apparition	187
The Rise of the Decline: France after 1848	187
The Conte cruel and the Psychological Fantastic	192
Guy de Maupassant	197
Apparition	204

8. Fantastic Decadence & Jean Lorrain's
Les Trous du masque	217
The Femme fatale and Homosexuality in the
Fin-de-siècle Identity Crisis	218
The Decadent Fantastic	221
Jean Lorrain's Fantastic Perversion	227
Les Trous du masque	237
Conclusion	250
Bibliography	262
Fantastic Theory	262
Feminist & Psychoanalytic Theory	265
Literary and Socio-Historical Sources	267
Cazotte & Le Diable amoureux	268
Gautier & La Morte amoureuse	269
Lorrain & Les Trous du masque	270
Maupassant & Apparition	271
Mérimée & La Vénus d'Ille	272
Nodier & Inès de las Sierras	273
Index	274