Contents

List of Illustrations ix
Preface xi
Contributors xv

Introduction: Germany, Russia, and Medical Cooperation between the Wars 3
SUSAN GROSS SOLOMON

Part One: ‘Choosing’ Scientific Friends

1 German Overtures to Russia, 1919–1925: Between Racial Expansion and National Coexistence 35
PAUL WEINDLING

2 Partners of Choice/Faute de Mieux? Russians and Germans at the 200th Anniversary of the Academy of Sciences, 1925 61
MARINA SOROKINA

3 Leftists versus Nationalists in Soviet-Weimar Cultural Diplomacy: Showcases, Fronts, and Boomerangs 103
MICHAEL DAVID-FOX

Part Two: Scientific Entrepreneurs across Borders

4 How to Win Friends and Influence People: Heinz Zeiss, Boundary Objects, and the Pursuit of Cross-National Scientific Collaboration in Microbiology 159
ELIZABETH HACHTEN
Contents

5 ‘Creating Confidence’: Heinz Zeiss as a Traveller in the Soviet Union, 1921–1932  199
    WOLFGANG ECKART

6 Infertile Soil: Heinz Zeiss and the Import of Medical Geography to Russia, 1922–1930  240
    SUSAN GROSS SOLOMON

7 The Scientist as Lobbyist: Heinz Zeiss and Auslandsdeutschum  291
    SABINE SCHLEIERMACHER

Part Three: Bilateralism and Internationalism

8 Castor and Pollux in Brain Research: The Berlin and the Moscow Brain Research Institutes  325
    JOCHEN RICHTER

9 Eugenics, Rassenhygiene, and Human Genetics in the Late 1930s: The Case of the Seventh International Genetics Congress  369
    NIKOLAI KREMENTOV

Part Four: Scientific Migration to ‘the Other’

10 Home Away from Home: The Berlin Neuroanatomist Louis Jacobsohn-Lask in Russia  407
    ULRIKE EISENBERG

11 Crossing Over: The Emigration of German-Jewish Physicians to the Soviet Union after 1933  462
    CAROLA TISCHLER

Index  501
Illustrations

1. Banquet to celebrate the founding of Deutsch-Russische Medizinische Zeitschrift, 1925   4
2. Co-editors of the Deutsch-Russische Medizinische Zeitschrift, 1925 Berlin   6
3. The Russian part of the editorial board of Russko-nemetskii meditsinskii zhurnal, with German guests   10
4. The Week of Russian Natural Science in Berlin, 1927   15
5. Portraits of prominent figures in German–Soviet medical relations at the Week of Russian Natural Science in Berlin, 1927   18