

Contents

Series editor's preface	vii
Notes on the contributors	xi
1. An international and historical context for recent policy approaches to lifelong learning in the UK Ann Hodgson	1
Part 1 The European context
2. The vocational training policy of the European Commission and its discourse on lifelong learning Marc Ant	21
3. Lifelong learning and the learning society: different European models of organization Andy Green	35
Part 2 Challenges in the UK context
4. The challenge of widening participation in lifelong learning Ann Hodgson	51
5. Paying for lifelong learning: problems and possibilities Gareth Williams	69
6. Quality and equality in lifelong learning: intersections and collisions Louise Morley	85
7. Bringing knowledge back in: towards a curriculum for lifelong learning Michael Young	97

Part 3 The policy focus under New Labour

- | | | |
|-----|--|-----|
| 8. | Developing a national qualifications framework for lifelong learning: England's unfinished business
Ken Spours | 113 |
| 9. | The case for a regional dimension to lifelong learning in the UK
Simon James | 131 |
| 10. | Hopes, contradictions and challenges: lifelong learning and the further education sector
Norman Lucas | 147 |
| 11. | Developing capability: part-time higher education and lifelong learning
Alison Fuller | 161 |
| 12. | Lifelong learning: challenging learning and teaching in higher education
Greg Light | 177 |
| 13. | Building a lifelong learning system for the future
Ann Hodgson and Ken Spours | 191 |
| | Index | 207 |