

Contents

Introduction	v
1
Evaluation Perspectives and Procedures	1
Michael Scriven
Qualitative and Quantitative Research and Evaluation Checklist for the Evaluation of Products, Producers, and Proposals Prose and Cons about Goal-Free Evaluation Comments, by Daniel L. Stufflebeam, Marvin C. Alkin, W. James Popham, and George F. Kneller, with Replies Maximizing the Power of Causal Investigations: The Modus Operandi Method Cost Analysis in Evaluation and the Doctrine of Cost-Free Evaluation
2
Alternative Approaches to Educational Evaluation: A Self-Study Guide for Educators	95
Daniel L. Stufflebeam
Module I: Evaluation According to Michael Scriven Knowledge Test over the Scriven Assignment Application Exercises
Module II: Evaluation According to Daniel L. Stufflebeam Knowledge Test over the Stufflebeam Assignment Application Exercises References
3
Designing Summative Evaluation Studies at the Local Level	145
Peter W. Airasian
Context of Local-Level Evaluation Studies

Overview of Evaluation Design
General Procedures for Overcoming Threats to Internal Validity
Predesign Concerns
Evaluation Designs
Conclusion
References
4
Data Analysis and Reporting Considerations in Evaluation	201
Richard M. Wolf
Identification and Classification of Variables
Acquiring Information about the Data to Be Analyzed
Stages of Data Analysis
Selecting an Appropriate Statistical Procedure
Presentation of Results
References
5
The Use of Standardized Tests in Evaluation	243
Gilbert Sax
The Meaning of Terms:
Measurement, Standardization, Tests, Evaluation
Norm- and Criterion-Referenced Measurement
Purposes of Evaluation in Education
References
6
Criterion-Referenced Measurement	309
Jason Millman
A Concept of Criterion-Referenced Tests
Domain-Referenced Tests
Differential Assessment Devices
Educational Applications of Domain-Referenced Tests and Differential Assessment Devices
References
7
Cost Analysis for Educational Program Evaluation	399
Emil J. Haller
Costs: General Considerations

Costing Procedures

Summary

References

8

Introduction to Matrix Sampling
for the Practitioner

451

Kenneth A. Sirotnik

Matrix Sampling Fundamentals:

Terminology, Notation, and Sampling Designs

Some Uses of Matrix Sampling: Advantages and Limitations

Selected Statistical Procedures in Matrix Sampling

Guidelines in the Design of Matrix Sampling Studies

Technical Appendix

References

9

Formative Evaluation of Instruction

531

Eva L. Baker

What Is Formative Evaluation for?

Formative Evaluation of Instructional Prototypes

External Data Gathering: Prototype Tryouts

Prototype Data Sources: Summary

Issues in Prototype Tryouts

Operational Testing

Potpourri

Optional Exercises

References