

Table of Contents

Introduction: Putting ‘Theorrhoea’ to the (Historical) Test Sonja Fielitz	1
---	---

Part One: The Middle Ages

1. Literature as History / History as Literature: A View from Medieval Ireland Erich Poppe	13
2. The King Can Do Wrong: William of Malmesbury’s Gesta Regum Anglorum Monika Rener	29
3. What’s at Stake: Jeanne d’Arc between Historiography and Propaganda Wolfram R. Keller, Astrid Lohöfer, and Christian Pauls	43

Part Two: Shakespeare

4. The Life and Opinions of William Shakespeare, Gentleman: Biography between Fact and Fiction Paul J. C. M. Franssen	63
5. Richard II in History and Performance Paul Edmondson	79
6. “Lesser than Macbeth, and greater”: A ‘Stuart Myth’ Case Study Frauke Reitemeier	91
7. Aspects of Governance in Shakespeare’s Edward the Third : The Quest for Personal and Political Identity Marga Munkelt and Beatrix Busse	105

Part Three: The Early Modern Period, Excluding Shakespeare

8. Constructing Royal Identity in Tudor and Early Stuart Drama:
Two Case Studies in Panegyric Literature 125
Claudia Küster
9. Of Israelites, Trojans, and Druids: Milton's History of Britain between Mythology, Republican Historiography, and Postmodern Historiographic Metafiction 139
Martin Kuester
10. Dryden's The Conquest of Granada: Facts and Fiction 149
Claudia Fenske

Part Four: The Eighteenth Century and Beyond

11. Cruel Sultans, Fair Captives:
The Influence of Richard Knolles's Generall Historie of the Turkes (1603) on Eighteenth-Century English Drama 169
Patricia Plummer
12. Frederick Pilon's Farce Aerostation, or, The Templar's Stratagem:
The Balloon Conquers the Skies and Literature 183
Jessika Wichner
13. Factual and Fictional Newtons: The Construction of a British National Hero 195
Sonja Fielitz
- Contributors 213