

Contents

Preface	v
List of Contributors	vi
National Report on the Transfer of Movables in Austria Wolfgang Faber	1
National Report on the Transfer of Movables in Estonia Kai Kullerkupp	219
National Report on the Transfer of Movables in Italy Alessio Greco	341
National Report on the Transfer of Movables in Slovenia Claudia Rudolf/Vesna Rijavec/Tomaž Keresteš	507

Table of Contents

Introduction	9
Part I:
Basic information on property law
I. Ownership and other property rights
1.1. General basics
1.1.1. The Austrian codification, sources and structure of Austrian property law	12
1.1.2. Characteristics of property rights (rights in rem) in contrast to obligations	15
1.1.3. General principles of Austrian property law	16
1.2. Notion and concept of ownership
1.2.1. Definition of and restrictions on the right of ownership	18
1.2.2. Rights and interests linked to ownership	19
1.3. Other property rights	24
1.4. Protection of ownership
1.4.1. Right to recover physical control (rei vindicatio)	25
1.4.2. Protection against creditors: Insolvency of and enforcement proceedings against the possessor	27
1.4.3. Right to refrain from interference (actio negatoria)	28
1.4.4. Right to claim damages	30
1.4.5. Claim for unjustified enrichment	31
1.5. Transferability of movable property
1.5.1. Statutory limitations on transferability, res extra commercium	33
1.5.2. Limitations on transferability by contract or will	34
1.5.3. No separate transferability of accessories	34

2.	Possession
2.1.	Notion and categories of possession
2.1.1.	The notion of possession	35
2.1.2.	Categories of possession	38
2.2.	Functions of Possession	40
2.3.	Excursion: The meaning of possession in 'good faith'	41
2.4.	Acquisition of Possession	42
2.5.	Judicial protection of possession
2.5.1.	General aspects	42
2.5.2.	Requirements and consequences in detail	43
2.5.3.	Persons entitled to and affected by judicial possessory remedies	45
2.6.	Protection of 'better possession' (actio Publiciana)
2.6.1.	Basic principles and requirements	47
2.6.2.	Remedies	48
2.6.3.	Scope of application	48
2.7.	Self-help
2.7.1.	Requirements of lawful self-help	48
2.7.2.	Persons entitled to self-help	50
3.	Rights to use and rights to acquire on the borderline between property rights and obligations ('quasi rights in rem')
3.1.	Lease	51
3.2.	Other cases of holding a movable: Custody, service provider's right to retain	53
3.3.	Rights to acquire: Buyer under reservation of title, pre-emption etc.	54
4.	Scope of the rules on the transfer of movables, relevant definitions	55

Part II:
Derivative acquisition

5.	The system of transfer of ownership under Austrian law
5.1.	Basic characteristics and general overview
5.1.1.	'Derivative' and 'original' acquisition, unitary transfer concept	58
5.1.2.	Overview of the main transfer requirements ('causal tradition system')	59
5.1.3.	Universal applicability	61
5.2.	The unitary concept of ownership and the unitary transfer concept in particular
5.2.1.	Basic idea of the unitary transfer concept	62
5.2.2.	Other branches of law partially providing 'functional' effects	63
5.3.	General requirement: Identification	70
5.4.	The requirement of a valid obligation to transfer ownership
5.4.1.	Suitable types of obligations	71
5.4.2.	Validity of the obligation: 'Causal' transfer system	72
5.4.3.	Exception: Abstract transfer of registered ships	80
5.5.	The requirement of a 'real agreement' (Verfügungsgeschäft)
5.5.1.	Consequences	81
5.5.2.	Problems	82
5.6.	Delivery	86
5.6.1.	Physical delivery (§ 426 ABGB)	87
5.6.2.	Symbolic delivery (§ 427 ABGB)	88
5.6.3.	Transfer by documents of title	91
5.6.4.	Brevi manu traditio (§ 428, 2 nd alternative ABGB)	93
5.6.5.	Constitutum possessorium (§ 428, 1 st alternative ABGB)	94
5.6.6.	Delivery by order to a third party in possession	96
5.6.7.	Delivery in the case of transport by an independent carrier (§ 429 ABGB)	98
5.6.8.	Transfer by registration	99
5.6.9.	Conclusive remark on publicity: Purpose and criticism of the delivery requirement	101
5.6.10.	Necessity of delivery in the case of an assignment or cessio legis?	102
5.7.	Transferor's right or authority to dispose	103

Table of Contents	5
5.8. The role of payment	103
5.9. The role of party autonomy	104
6. Double sales
6.1. The rules on double selling in Austrian property law	106
6.2. Further consequences and 'corrections' under the law of obligations
6.2.1. The relation between the seller and the second buyer	107
6.2.2. The relation between the first buyer and the second buyer	107
7. Selling in a chain with direct delivery
7.1. General	109
7.2. The effects of invalid or avoided contracts
7.2.1. Invalidation of the contract A – B	112
7.2.2. Invalidation of the contract B – C	113
7.2.3. Invalidation of both contracts A – B and B – C	114
7.3. Further questions: Direct delivery and reservation of ownership	114
8. Transfer or acquisition by means of indirect representation	115
8.1. Representation for alienation	116
8.2. Representation for acquisition	117
8.3. Protection of the representative	118
9. Consequences of the insolvency of one of the parties at different stages of the transfer
9.1. General
9.1.1. Types of insolvency proceedings	118
9.1.2. Consequences of the commencement of insolvency proceedings	120

9.1.3.	Avoidance by creditors ( actio Pauliana )	121
9.1.4.	Rights to withhold performance under contract law	123
9.2.	Insolvency of the transferee
9.2.1.	Situations where one of the parties has discharged its obligation in full	124
9.2.2.	Synallagmatic contracts not discharged in full by both of the parties	126
9.2.3.	Contracts fully performed by both parties	129
9.3.	Insolvency of the transferor
9.3.1.	Situations where one of the parties has discharged its obligation in full	130
9.3.2.	Synallagmatic contracts not discharged in full by either of the parties	131
9.3.3.	Contracts completely fulfilled by both parties, including subsequent avoidance or termination	131
10.	Passing of risk and internal allocation of uses and liability for charges
10.1.	The passing of risk
10.1.1.	General principles	132
10.1.2.	Underpinnings of the rules on the passing of risk as opposed to the transfer of ownership provisions	135
10.1.3.	Further details regarding the different forms of delivery in relation to the passing of ownership	136
10.2.	Internal allocation of the right to profits and the liability for charges	138
Part III:
Original acquisition
11.	Acquisition by combination, commingling and processing
11.1.	The different situations; terminology	140
11.2.	Legal consequences	142
11.3.	Additional issues	145

12. Good faith acquisition	146
12.1. Scope of application; specific rules	146
12.2. Good faith acquisition under §§ 367, 368 ABGB
12.2.1. Acquisition must be for value	148
12.2.2. General transfer requirements, including delivery	149
12.2.3. Public auction, purchase from professional seller and purchase of entrusted goods	151
12.2.4. Good faith	153
12.2.5. Dogmatic background of good faith acquisition	156
12.2.6. Lost and stolen goods	157
12.2.7. Effect of good faith acquisition; no right to buy back	157
12.2.8. A field of principal practical importance: Retention of title and good faith acquisition	158
12.3. Further rules on the acquisition of ownership from a non-owner
12.3.1. Good faith acquisition of fungible goods under § 371 ABGB	159
12.3.2. Protection of trust in the scope of an (existing) authority to dispose (§ 1088, 2 nd sentence ABGB)	159
12.3.3. Acquisition in extrajudicial enforcement, § 466d ABGB	160
12.3.4. Acquisition from a 'presumptive heir' (§ 824, 2 nd sentence ABGB)	161
12.4. Good faith acquisition free of encumbrances	162
13. Acquisitive prescription and limitation of ownership	162
13.1. Acquisitive prescription of movable property
13.1.1. General	163
13.1.2. Acquisition in a short period (3 or 6 years)	166
13.1.3. Acquisition in the long period (30 or 40 years)	166
13.1.4. Further rules as to the prescription period	166
13.1.5. Effects of acquisitive prescription	167
13.2. No limitation of the right of ownership	168
14. Other forms of original acquisition
14.1. Finding of lost, forgotten and hidden goods, treasure trove	168
14.2. Further forms of original acquisition	169

Part IV:
Additional issues

15.	Retention of ownership
15.1.	Notion and creation of reservation of ownership	171
15.2.	Rights of the seller	172
15.3.	Rights of the transferee	173
15.4.	Transfer of 'retained ownership'	175
15.5.	Resale by the conditional buyer	175
15.6.	The consequences of the processing of goods by the conditional purchaser	178
15.7.	'All sums' clauses and similar extensions with regard to the secured debts	179
16.	Abandonment and loss of ownership	179
17.	Co-ownership	180
18.	No special provisions on bulk sales and floating charges	181
19.	Consequential questions of restitution of the movable to the owner
19.1.	General
19.1.1.	Scope	183
19.1.2.	Main criteria and problems	185
19.2.	Entitlement to fruits and benefits
19.2.1.	Categories of fruits and benefits	187
19.2.2.	Possessor in good faith	188
19.2.3.	Possessor in bad faith	190

19.3. Deterioration, consumption or loss of the movable
19.3.1. Possessor in good faith	192
19.3.2. Possessor in bad faith	195
19.4. Improvements and expenses
19.4.1. Categories of expenses	195
19.4.2. Right to remove improvements ( ius tollendi )	196
19.4.3. Reimbursement	196
19.5. Right to retain the movable and similar constructions
19.5.1. The right to retain in general	198
19.5.2. Special constellations	200
19.5.3. Statutory lien	202
19.6. Costs of restitution	203
Table of Statutory Provisions	204
Table of Literature	210
Table of Abbreviations	215