

CONTENTS

Chapter 1	Constitutionalism	1
	Harvey Wheeler, Institute for Higher Studies
	Introduction: The Mystique of Constitutionalism	1
	The Invention of the Higher Law: An Anthropology of Constitutionalism	7
	The Recent Debate over Constitutionalism	28
	The Classical Background	37
	Separation of Powers and the Classical Mixed State	41
	The Medieval Background	44
	The Union of the Crowns of England and Scotland	50
	Calvin's Case and the English Constitution	54
	Calvin's Case and the Imperial Constitution	61
	The American Constitution: Double Majesty Republicanized	66
	Dominion Theory and Federalism	70
	Separation of Powers	73
	Baroque Constitutional Mechanics	76
	Epilogue: The Myth of Constitutionalism	78
Chapter 2	Federalism	93
	William H. Riker, University of Rochester
	Introduction: The Meaning of Federalism	93
	The Development of Federalism	106
	The Conditions of Federalism	113
	The Significance of the Necessary Conditions of Federalism for the Interpretation of Institutions	128
	The Measurement of Federalism	131
	The Accidents of Federalism	141

	The Evaluation of Federalism	151
	Appendix: Notes on the History of the Ideological Writings of Federalism	159
Chapter 3	Executives	173
	Anthony King, University of Essex, England
	Introduction: The Limitations of the Literature	173
	The Greater Problem of Definition: What Is an “Executive”?	175
	The Lesser Problem of Definition: Which “Executives” To Study?	182
	Executive Recruitment	183
	Internal Dynamics	205
	External Relations: Executives and Legislatures	233
	The Executive Psyche	238
	Concluding Remarks	242
Chapter 4	Legislatures	257
	Nelson W. Polsby, University of California, Berkeley
	Similarities: Problems of Definition and Conceptualization	258
	Differences: Problems of Classification	262
	Closed Regime and Unspecialized Polity: Alternate Routes to Regime Legitimacy	263
	Closed Regime and Specialized Polity: Representation for Co-optation	266
	Open Regime and Unspecialized Polity: Community without Representation in Small-Scale, Status-Ridden Systems	268
	Open Regime and Specialized Polity: Constitutional Variation in Modern Democratic Legislatures	274
	Arenas versus Transformative Legislatures	277
	Legislative Reform: Toward Transformativeness?	297
	Representation in Specialized, Open Regimes	298
	In Conclusion: Legislatures as Multipurpose Organizations	301
Chapter 5	Courts	321
	Martin Shapiro, University of California, San Diego
	The Prototype of Court	321
	The Logic of the Triad in Conflict Resolution	321
	Social Control	333
	Courts as Lawmakers	342
	The Logic of Courts	349
	Trial Courts and Appellate Courts—Fact-Finding	350
	The Uses of Appeal	357
	Popular Courts	362

Chapter 6 Bureaucracies	373
Mark V. Nadel, Cornell University
Francis Rourke, Johns Hopkins University
Introduction	373
Bureaucratic Expertise	374
Bureaucracy and Its Publics	390
Public and Private Bureaucracies—Reciprocal Impact	399
Bureaucratic Responsibility	411
Conclusion: Power, Effectiveness, and Responsibility	428
Index	441