

Contents

Preface	vi
Abbreviations	vii
1 Introduction	1
Cross-mapping Hitchcock and Nabokov	1
Questions of Exile and Dislocation	11
Home and Exile in Hitchcock and Nabokov	22
Part I Nabokov's Dislocations
2 Refiguring Loss and Exile in Speak, Memory	33
Chronophobia	38
Family Romance	51
Poetics of Memory	66
3 'Aesthetic Bliss' and Its Allegorical Displacements in Lolita	86
Childhood Romance	91
Textual Relocations	100
Language to Infinity	113
Part II Hitchcock's Wanderings
4 Inhabiting Feminine Suspicion	127
Traumatic Fantasy	132
Family Murder	144
Aesthetics of Overproximity	153
5 Wandering and Assimilation in North by Northwest	165
Mad Traveller	170
Oedipal Voyage	178
Language of Exile and Assimilation	188
6 Epilogue: Psychoanalytic Dislocation	201
Bibliography	220
Index	237