

Table of Contents

1. Introduction	9
1.1. The Research Focus	9
1.2. Methodology	10
1.2.1. Selection of interview partners	10
1.2.2. The interviews	11
1.2.3. Grounded theory	13
1.3. Getting Started: Why Poland?	16
1.3.1. Reasons for going to Poland	16
1.3.2. Personal relationship to Poland	18
2. Culture - Austrian Managers' Perceptions of Polish Employees	20
2.1. Polish Cultural Standards and Dimensions	20
2.2. Traces of the Communist Past	22
2.3. Relevant Culture-Related Issues	26
2.3.1. Loyalty	26
2.3.2. Attitude towards working hours	34
2.3.3. Initiative	36
2.3.4. Acceptance of responsibility	39
2.3.5. Neo-capitalistic desire for consumption	42
2.3.6. Entrepreneurial spirit	44
2.3.7. Readiness to change	45
2.3.8. Women in leading positions	47
2.3.9. Flexibility, organisational and improvisational skills	49
2.3.10. Achievement motivation	52
2.3.11. Education	54
2.3.12. Trust-building	55
2.3.13. Other culture-related characteristics	56
2.4. Reflection and Outlook	58
3. Leadership - Austrian Managers in Poland	61
3.1. Perceived Personal Change, Success and Managerial Obstacles	63
3.2. Polish as a Foreign Language	71
3.3. Being Austrian in Poland	75
3.4. Metaphors of Austrian Management in Poland	83
3.5. Cultural Differences and their Impact on Managerial Styles	88
3.6. Polish and Austrian Managerial Styles	92
3.6.1. Comparing Polish and Austrian managers	92
3.6.2. The Polish tendency to autocratic leadership	95
3.6.3. Leadership expectations of Polish employees	96
3.6.4. Austrian management in Poland	99
3.7. Possible Implications for Austrian Managers in Poland	104
3.7.1. Training and preparation	104
3.7.2. Cultural proximity	105
3.7.3. Managerial modesty	105
3.7.4. New ways of management	106
3.7.5. Linguistic and cultural sensitivity	109
3.7.6. Compromise and trust-building	110

3.7.7. A common management model	111
3.8. Final Remarks	112
4. Trust - The Role of Trust in Management Operations in Poland	114
4.1. Managers' Definitions of Trust	115
4.2. Betrayal of Trust	120
4.3. Dealing with Betrayal of Trust	124
4.4. Trust-Building in Poland and Austria	127
4.4.1. Obstacles to trust	133
4.4.2. Control and trust-building	136
4.4.3. Implications for trust-building in Poland	137
5. Conclusion and Limitations	141
6. References	145