

Contents

Preface	ix
1 Performances of exclusion	1
2 Myth and psychoanalysis: legitimate and illegitimate	16
The traditional mythology of the exception	18
The Freudian attempt to universalise the particular	24
The private uses of mythology	37
3 Mythical histories, historical myths	43
4 A female genealogy: the en-gendering of George Sand	64
5 Opposition and revolution: Olympe de Gouges and the rights of the dispossessed	87
6 The male/female Messiah: Flora Tristan	106
7 My mother the Revolution: Louise Michel	126
8 Symbolic delegitimation	142
Stendhal and the mother's line	143
Nerval and the maternal space	147
Three Baudelairean narratives	150
Sartre the 'faux-bâtard'	157
9 'Better to reign in Hell . . .'	164
Giving birth to my grandmother: Leduc	167
Genet: the flowering of the name	175
10 Delegitimation by proxy	186
Freud	189
Sartre	195
Derrida	203

CONTENTS

11 Conclusion	212
Notes	218
Bibliography	244
Index	259