

CONTENTS

LIST OF MAPS	xiv
LIST OF TABLES	xv
ABBREVIATIONS	xvi
INTRODUCTION	1
Part One. Eighteenth-century Background	9
I. EIGHTEENTH-CENTURY POLITICS	11
i. Reich and Staat	14
ii. Herrschaft and Verwaltung	24
iii. Austria	41
iv. Prussia	55
II. EIGHTEENTH-CENTURY SOCIETY	72
i. Characteristics of the Traditional Social Order	73
ii. Agriculture and Rural Social Relations	90
iii. Cities, Markets, and Manufacturing	105
iv. Old and New Élites	125
III. EIGHTEENTH-CENTURY CULTURE	144
i. Cultures: Popular, Élite, and Literary	145
ii. Language and Literature	160
iii. Philosophy and Religion	174
iv. The Origins of a Political Public	190
Part Two. Germans and the French Revolution, 1789–1815	207
IV. CONFRONTATION AND DEFEAT	209
i. Initial Responses	210
ii. A New Kind of War: From Valmy to Jena	218
iii. The End of the Old Reich and the Reorganization of Central Europe	235

V.	MASTERING THE REVOLUTION	251
	i. Napoleonic Germany: 'Allies and Victims'	253
	ii. Austria: The Ordeal of Survival	274
	iii. Prussia: Humiliation and Renewal	291
	iv. The End of Napoleonic Hegemony	310
VI.	CULTURE IN THE REVOLUTIONARY ERA	324
	i. Romanticism	326
	ii. Philosophy and Religion	342
	iii. Intellectuals and Politics	358
	iv. Nationalism: Ideas and Movements	371
	Part Three. The Limits of Restoration, 1815–1848	389
VII.	RESTORATION POLITICS, 1815–1830	391
	i. The Congress of Vienna and the German Question	393
	ii. Constitutional Conflicts	411
	iii. The Consolidation of the Beamtenstaat	425
	iv. Patterns of Political Participation	441
VIII.	GROWTH AND STAGNATION IN GERMAN SOCIETY	451
	i. The Changing Dimensions of Life	453
	ii. Agriculture and Rural Social Relations	470
	iii. Cities, Markets, and Manufacturing	485
	iv. Aristocrats, Businessmen, and Bureaucrats	504
IX.	THE CULTURAL ESTABLISHMENT AND ITS CRITICS	524
	i. Public Culture, Private Tastes	525
	ii. The Triumph of History	542
	iii. Religion and Radicalism	555
	iv. The Literature of Alienation and Commitment	572
X.	THE GROWTH OF PARTICIPATORY POLITICS, 1830–1848	588
	i. Conservatism and Liberalism	589
	ii. Cracks in the Dam: Germans and the Revolution of 1830	604
	iii. The Growth of Political Opposition	621
	iv. Social Crisis	637

Part Four. Towards a New Order, 1848–1866		655
XI.	REVOLUTION AND REACTION	656
	i. The Outbreak of the Revolution	657
	ii. The Frankfurt Parliament and the German Question	672
	iii. The Defeat of the Revolution: Politics in the States	691
	iv. The New Face of Reaction	710
XII.	SOCIETY IN THE AGE OF THE BÜRGERTUM	730
	i. Economic Growth	731
	ii. Rural Society in an Industrial Age	747
	iii. Cities, Entrepreneurs, and Workers	763
	iv. Characteristics of the Modern Social Order	780
XIII.	CULTURE IN THE AGE OF THE BÜRGERTUM	793
	i. The Culture of Bürgerlichkeit : Fashions, Manners, Values	794
	ii. The Rise of German Science	802
	iii. The Problem of Literary Realism	820
	iv. The Search for National Identity	836
XIV.	POLITICAL OPPORTUNITIES AND ALTERNATIVES	853
	i. The Re-emergence of the German Question	854
	ii. The 'New Era'	869
	iii. National Conflicts and Domestic Realignments	888
	iv. The German Civil War	899
	CONCLUSION	912
	RULERS OF MAJOR GERMAN STATES	915
	GUIDE TO FURTHER READING	918
	BIBLIOGRAPHY	919
	INDEX	959

LIST OF MAPS

1. The Holy Roman Empire	12-13
2. Central Europe in 1806	254
3. Central Europe in 1815	394

LIST OF TABLES

2.1. Population growth in the eighteenth century	75
2.2. Prussian cities in the early nineteenth century	105
8.1. Infant mortality in the nineteenth century	455
8.2. Marital fertility in the 1840s and 1850s	456
8.3. Population growth in German states, 1816 and 1865	458
8.4. Regional distribution of population growth, 1816–1865	459
8.5. Demographic trends in selected Prussian regions, 1801–1871	460
8.6. Source of population growth in Berlin, 1815–1856/8	461
8.7. Immigration in three Prussian provinces and Berlin, 1816–1861	462
8.8. German emigration overseas, 1816–1864	462
8.9. Railroad traffic, 1840–1865	467
8.10. Relative population growth in selected districts, 1816–1859	471
8.11. Labour productivity in German agriculture, 1800–1850	478
8.12. Social origins of students at Halle, 1770–1874	516
10.1. Residents of the Palatinate at the Hambacher Fest, 1832	611
11.1. Social composition of the Frankfurt parliament	677
12.1. Size of coal mines in the Ruhr, 1850–1870	740
12.2. Occupational structure of Kiebingen, 1823–1864	760
12.3. Craftsmen and workers in five Prussian cities, 1861	774
12.4. Real wages in Germany, 1850–1865	776
13.1. Scientific discoveries in Germany, France, and England, 1800–1870	804