

Acknowledgements	xi
List of Illustrations, Charts and Maps	xiii
Abbreviations	xv
Introduction	1
A. “A sorry and very lamentable thing:” the high command of the Army of Flanders, from victory to defeat	1
B. The Eighty Years War, 1567–1659	11
C. Noble class and status in Early Modern Spain	13
D. The structure of the high command and the duties of its major tactical ranks	16
a. Infantry	17
b. Cavalry	23
c. Artillery	26
d. The garrisons: Governors and Castellans	27
e. Commanders-in-chief	29
f. Bureaucratic overseers	32
g. Ranks from other Spanish armies	33
h. Conclusion	33

PART ONE

THE SCHOOL OF ALBA, 1567–1621

Introduction	49
Chapter One Personnel Matters: Staffing the School of Alba	53
A. Training	53
B. Appointments	62
Chapter Two Internal Structure and Hierarchy in the Early Army of Flanders	89
A. Ranks and branches	89
B. Nations	95

Chapter Three	Discipline and Justice in an Age of Mutinies	107
A.	Modo Militar : Justice in the hands of the high command, 1567–1587	107
B.	Letrado justice, 1587–1621	115
Chapter Four	“Doctors of the Military Discipline:” Projects of Reform in the Spanish Officer Corps	121

PART TWO

“FALTA DE CABEZAS.” THE MILITARY REFORMS AND POLICIES OF THE COUNT-DUKE OF OLIVARES, 1621–1643

Introduction	145
Chapter One	Olivares as Military Trainer	149
A.	Projects of formal education	149
B.	Training reforms: provisional commissions	153
Chapter Two	The Evolution of the Count-Duke’s Appointment Policies	159
A.	Meritocratic reforms, 1621–1632	159
B.	The search for luster, 1629–1643	163
Chapter Three	Grandees on Campaign: The Impact of Aristocratization	183
Chapter Four	Olivares’ Structural Reforms in the High Command	215
A.	Ranks: leadership by committee	215
B.	Nations: the restoration of Spanish privilege	244
Chapter Five	“Order and Obedience”: The Olivarean Reform of Military Justice	263

“AN ALMOST HOPELESS CONDITION”: THE LEGACY OF OLIVARES IN THE ARMY OF FLANDERS, 1643–1659

Chapter One “Time to Act Like Who We Are:” The Battle of Rocroi	279
Chapter Two The Legacy of Olivares and the End of the War in Flanders, 1643–1659	331
A. Training	331
B. Appointments	334
C. Internal structure	349
a. Ranks, branches and auxiliary armies	349
b. Nations	361
D. Military justice	364
Conclusion	373
Bibliography	381
Index	397