

Contents

	Preface	vii
I.	The Body as Signifier before A la recherche : The Nineteenth Century Realists	1
II.	The Sleeper's Body and the Child's Body Part One: "Combray" I: "His body is an Egypt"  Part Two: "Combray" II: The Role of the Body in the Child's Knowledge of Self and Others	31
III.	The Convalescent Body: The Dialectic of Habit and the Pursuit of the Unknown	75
IV.	The Mythic and Ritualistic Body of the Guermantes	99
V.	Atavisms and Ambiguities: the Ancestral Body and the Homosexual Body  Part One: Charlus: The Queen's Two Bodies  Part Two: Saint-Loup: The Subversion of the Ancestral Body	127
VI.	The Pseudo-Creations of Love: the Body as Masterpiece and Artifact  Part One: The Mediated Body of Odette  Part Two: The Captive Body of Albertine	169

VII. The Demystified Bodies of Le temps retrouvé	215
Conclusion	235
Bibliography	243