

CONTENTS

I. ATTITUDES TO LOGIC	I
Commentaries and scholia	I
The Neoplatonic curriculum	4
Conventional features of lectures	6
The dialectic methods and the meaning of 'analysis'	8
Proclus' comparison of Aristotelian and Parmenidean logic	II
The Alexandrian conception of logic	17
The criterion of validity	21
Logical form	25
How much did Neoplatonism influence the logical commentaries?	28
A comment on consistency and originality	33
2. PORPHYRIAN SEMANTICS	36
Imposition of names	36
'Genus' and 'species'	39
Use and mention?	41
Singular terms, individuals, and bundles of properties	43
Predication	47
Predicates as concepts	49
Porphyry's two programmes	53
When is a proposition one proposition?	56
How can a proper name be ambiguous?	58
Which animal is predicated?	62
The 'unallocated': Transcendent genus or concept?
Multiplication of the universal	65
The myth of a Neoplatonic nominalism	68
The Aristotelianism of Byzantine Neoplatonists	70
3. QUASI-GENERA AND THE COLLAPSE OF SUBSTANCE AND ATTRIBUTE	76
P-series as quasi-genera	76

How can they have a deductive logic?
First thesis	78
Second thesis	80
Third thesis: Plotinian and Proclan versions	81
Plotinus' radical criticism of substance and attribute	85
Two structures, two levels of thought?	95
4. PROCESSION AND DECLINE	98
Emanation as external activity: The model in Aristotle's physics	98
The Proclan rule	106
Defective reception as weakness of the form. Proclus' aversion from dualism	107
How monads descend. How transcendental triads function	111
Matter replaced by composition of causes?	117
Decline of monad as distance from the One.
Fundamental equations of force, value, and unity	120
5. THE SPIRITUAL CIRCUIT	123
Only a particular soul can ascend	123
Personal experience integral to Neoplatonism	125
Ambiguities of 'reversion'	126
Philosophical interpretations of the spiritual circuit	130
Appearance and reality	135
6. THE LIMITS OF KNOWLEDGE	140
Knowledge as a P-series	140
The process of perception	142
Natural science. Canons	145
Sensation as obscure thinking	152
Iamblichus' principle of knowing. Future contingents	154
How henads, not intellects, know particulars. The accidental	159
MYSTICISM AND METAPHYSICS	164
Pure Intellect in Plotinus	164
Pure Intellect and Henads in Proclus	166
The loving intellect = pre-intellect	169
A constructive interpretation of the motionless movement	171

What is presupposed by thought and existence	177
What is so valuable about knowledge?	180
How consciousness creates	182
Bibliography	185
Index Locorum	190
General Index	196