

Contents

Acknowledgements	v
Contributors	ix
Introduction: Opportunities and challenges of bilingualism Li Wei, Jean-Marc Dewaele and Alex Housen	1
I. Theoretical frameworks
“Holy languages” in the context of societal bilingualism Joshua A. Fishman	15
Forlorn hope? John Edwards	25
When languages disappear, are bilingual education or human rights a cure? Two scenarios Tove Skutnabb-Kangas	45
Core values and nation-states J. J. Smolicz	69
II. Bilingualism worldwide
French language policy: centrism, Orwellian dirigisme , or economic determinism? Harold F. Schiffman	89
The non-linearity of language maintenance and language shift: survey data from European language boundaries Peter H. Nelde and Peter J. Weber	105
Language shift among Siberian Estonians: pro and contra Jüri Viikberg	125
On attitudes towards Croatian dialects and on their changing status Damir Kalogjera	145
Ethnolects—between bilingualism and urban dialect Wolfgang Wölck	157

The development of Navajo-English bilingualism Bernard Spolsky	171
Language ideology, ownership and maintenance: the discourse of the Academia Mayor de la Lengua Quechua Tim Marr	199
Xhosa as a “home appliance”? A case study of language shift in Grahamstown Vivian de Klerk	221
Japan’s nascent multilingualism Florian Coulmas and Makoto Watanabe	249
III. Multilingual management and education
Managing multilingualism in Singapore Xu Daming and Li Wei	275
Managing languages at bilingual universities: relationships between universities and their language environment Björn H. Jernudd	297
Using descriptive inquiry to transform the education of linguistically diverse US teachers and students Ofelia García and Cecelia Traugh	311
Coda
Changing paradigms in the study of bilingualism William F. Mackey	329
Index	345