

Table of Contents

Preface	11
Chapter I. The Problem of Individuation	17
I. Nomenclature	18
II. The Problem	21
A. Intension of Individuality	22
1. Indivisibility	22
2. Distinction	26
3. Division	27
4. Identity	27
5. Impredicability	29
6. Relation of the Five Features	30
B. Extension of Individuality	31
1. Nothing that Exists is Individual	31
2. Everything that Exists is Individual	32
3. Some Things that Exist are Individual and Some are not	33
C. Ontological Status of Individuality	34
D. Principle of Individuation	36
1. Individuation of Substances	39
a. Bundle theory of individuation	39
b. Theories of accidental individuation	40
c. Theories of essential individuation	42
d. Theory of existential individuation	45
e. Theories of external individuation	45
2. Individuation of Properties and Accidents	46
a. Substantial individuation	46
b. Accidental (or proper) individuation	47
3. Individuation of Other Entities	48
E. Discernibility of Individuals	48
1. Discernibility of Substances	50
a. Bundle theory of individual discernibility	50
b. Spatio-temporal theory of individual discernibility	51
c. ' Sui generis ' theory of individual discernibility	51

2. Discernibility of Properties and Accidents	52
a. Discernibility through substance	52
b. Discernibility through accidents	52
F. Function of Proper Names and Indexicals	53
III. Concluding Remarks	54
Notes	55

Chapter II. Formulation of the Issues: Boethius 65

I. Porphyry's View in the Isagoge	67
II. Boethius' View in the Commentary on Porphyry's "Isagoge"	70
A. First Edition	70
B. Second Edition	74
III. Boethius' View in the Commentary on the "Categories"	82
IV. Boethius' View in the Commentary on "De interpretatione"	89
V. Boethius's View in De Trinitate	97
VI. Conclusions	107
Notes	111

Chapter III. The Tradition Based on Boethius' De Trinitate: Eriugena, Odo, Thierry, and Gilbert 123

I. John Eriugena	129
II. Odo of Tours	135
III. Thierry of Chartres	142
IV. Gilbert of Poitiers	155
A. Singularity and Individuality	156
B. Diversity	165
Notes	178

Chapter IV. The Tradition Based on Boethius' Logical Works: Peter Abailard and John of Salisbury 195

I. Peter Abailard	196
A. The Accidental Theory of Substantial Individuation	198
1. Abailard's Criticism	204
B. The Essential Theory of Individuation	210
1. Abailard's Response	212
C. The Formalist Theory of Individuality and Its Criticism	212
D. Word View of Individuality	215
E. Numerical Diversity in the Theologia christiana	227
II. John of Salisbury	236
Notes	241

Chapter V. Conclusions	255
I. The Problem's Philosophical and Historical Context	255
II. Intension of Individuality	261
III. Extension of Individuality	263
IV. Ontological Status of Individuality	264
V. Principle of Individuation	266
VI. Discernibility of Individuals	270
VII. Function of Proper Names and Indexicals	272
VIII. Principle of the Identity of Indiscernibles	273
IX. Conclusions	275
Notes	278
Bibliography	281
Index of Proper Names	287
Index of Subjects and Terms	291
Sigla	303