

Contents

Preface	vii
List of contributors	xi
1. The role of Jewish anti-Christian arguments in the rise of scepticism R.H. Popkin	1
2. Conrad Gessner and the infidelity of Paracelsus Charles Webster	13
3. Egnazio Danti and mathematical education in late sixteenth-century Florence Thomas B. Settle	24
4. Marsilio Ficino, Hermes Trismegistus and the Corpus Hermeticum M.J.B. Allen	38
5. Italian humanists and Boethius: was Philosophy for or against Poetry? Letizia Panizza	48
6. Mastering the uncouth: Gabriel Harvey, Edmund Spenser and the English experience in Ireland Lisa Jardine	68
7. Altera Natura : the idea of custom in historical perspective Donald R. Kelley	83
8. Ideas on gesture and universal languages, c. 1550–1650 Dilwyn Knox	101
9. The transformation of Aristotelianism during the Renaissance Eckhard Kessler	137
10. Infinite power impressed: the transformation of Aristotle's physics and theology Richard Sorabji	148
11. From the medieval to the Renaissance Aristotle John E. Murdoch	163

12.	Neo-Aristotelianism and the magnetic philosophy Stephen Pumfrey	177
13.	Copernicus in the university: the French experience L.W.B. Brockliss	190
14.	Medicine, physiology and anatomy in early sixteenth-century critiques of the arts and sciences Nancy G. Siraisi	214
15.	Medicine, diplomacy and finance: the prefaces to a Hippocratic commentary of 1541 Vivian Nutton	230
16.	Elizabeth I and the universities J.W. Binns	244
17.	Philosophical books in European markets, 1570–1630: the case of Ramus Ian Maclean	253
18.	Charles Schmitt (1933–1986): reconstructor of a history of Renaissance learning Luce Giard	264
	Towards a history of Renaissance philosophy: a bibliography of the writings of Charles B. Schmitt Constance T. Blackwell	291
	Index	309