

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	xi
Introduction	1
1 THE TRANSCENDENT AND THE HISTORICAL:
Inventing the discourse of mysticism	7
Mysticism and disenchantment	7
The idealism of the mystical discourse and its ideological effects	14
Towards a reading practice of late medieval devotional texts	18
2 CHRIST'S BODY AND THE IMAGING OF SOCIAL ORDER	22
The body politic and the body as politic: three exempla	23
Corpus mysticum and Corpus Christi	30
Christ in a cake	33
Representation and unity	37
Subjectivity, body, social order	40
3 'DYVERSE IMAGINACIIONS OF CRYSTES LYF':
Subjectivity, embodiment and crucifixion piety	45
Theologia cordis: oxymoronic doctrine	46
'I wold ben clad in Cristes skin': Franciscan affectus	52
Limens, boundaries and wounds: Corpus Christi
as rite of passage	55
Love's Mirrour	63
'Where is the cross Christ died on?'	70
Sacramentalism, belief, religious practice	76

CONTENTS

4 THE USES OF CORPUS CHRISTI AND THE BOOK
OF MARGERY KEMPE	78
Margery Kempe's imitatio	80
Holy family romance	83
Tears and cries	88
Thinking with your mind and praying with your mouth	91
Clerical relations	94
Guild, parish, laity	102
CONCLUSION	112
Notes	118
Works cited	166
Index	185