

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements	ix
Preface: Psychologist-Poets, Disciplinary Power and the Modern Subject	xi
Introduction: Romantic-Era Psychologist-Poets and the Historical Context of Early British Psychology	1
1 Erasmus Darwin, James Beattie and Nathaniel Cotton as Pre-Romantic Psychologist-Poets	29
2 The Human Touch: Thomas Bakewell, Andrew Duncan Sr, John Ferriar and Moral Management	75
3 Thomas Trotter, William Perfect and Thomas Beddoes: Nervous Illness and Social Hygiene	117
4 The Unelected Legislator: Associationism and Thomas Brown's Subliminal Poetic Lessons	161
Conclusion: Thomas Forster, Phrenology and the Reification of the Disciplines	183
Notes	199
Works Cited	247
Index	269