

Contents

1. Introduction	1
Part I: The Justification of Science
2. Kuhn's Challenge to the Rationality of Science	7
1. The Structure of Scientific Revolutions	8
2. Kuhn's Retreat	18
3. Kuhnian Science: Rational or Irrational?	24
3. In Defence of Rational Realism	34
1. The Argument for Rational Realism	34
2. Wittgenstein, Rorty, Davidson, and the Sense of Truth	40
3. Is Realism the Best Explanation?	50
Part II: The Rationality of Religious Belief
4. Does Philosophy of Religion Rest on a Mistake?	67
1. On Justifying Religion	67
2. The Expressive Theory and its Defence	70
3. Intellectualism: The Theory of 'Primeval Stupidity'	78
4. Assessing the Argument for the Expressive Theory	82
5. Expressive or Intellectualist?	84
6. The Expressive Theory and the Facts	87
7. The Case of Religion	88
5. Faith and the Religious Adequacy of Explanatory Justification	96
1. Introduction	96
2. An Argument from the Motive for Faith	97
3. The Nature of Faith	99
4. Religion and Decisive Adherence	103
6. Theism and Inferring to the Best Explanation	119
1. An Objection from the Nature of Explanation	120
2. Darwin and Inferring to the Best Explanation	125
3. Explanatory Power and an Objection to Ad Hoc-ness	131
4. The Place of Simplicity	144

7. Conclusions: The Problem of Evil and the Philosophy of Science	154
1. Introduction	154
2. The Possibility of Evil	156
3. The Plausibility of Evil	167
4. Anomalies, Puzzles, and the Propriety of Mystery	177
8. Afterword	183
Bibliography	187
Index	195