

Contents

---

List of figures	page vi
List of tables	vii
Acknowledgments	ix
List of abbreviations	xi
1 Introduction	1
2 The birth of environmental movements and programs	32
3 The institutionalization of environmental movements	60
4 Acid rain: signs of policy divergence	92
5 Stratospheric ozone depletion	116
6 Global climate change: the road to UNCED	144
7 Global climate change: the battle over Kyoto	176
8 Global environmental politics and environmental policy communities	210
9 Domestic politics and the global environment: Japan, Germany, and the US compared	241
Bibliography	262
Index	283

Figures

---

3.1 Germany: electricity by source 1980	page 62
3.2 Germany: electricity by source 1997	62
3.3 Japan: electricity by source 1980	63
3.4 Japan: electricity by source 1997	63
3.5 US: electricity by source 1980	64
3.6 US: electricity by source 1997	64
6.1 US media coverage of climate change	147
6.2 German media coverage of climate change	148
6.3 Japanese media coverage of climate change	149
7.1 Carbon dioxide emissions	194
7.2 Per capita carbon dioxide emissions	195

Tables

---

1.1 Japan, Germany, US: area, population, population density, and economy	page 2
1.2 Select environmental quality indicators	2
1.3 Expenditures on environmental protection	3
7.1 World's top carbon dioxide emitting countries in 1998	177
7.2 Kyoto Protocol emissions targets	190
8.1 Select list of environmental NGOs in Japan, Germany, and the US	211
8.2 Climate Action Network member organizations	213