

CONTENTS

PREFACE ix

Introduction

APPLIED ETHICS AND ENVIRONMENTAL CONCERN 1

Notes, 13

Part I Traditional Positions

Chapter One

PHILOSOPHICAL ATTITUDES 14

Greek Philosophy, 16

Greek Influence on Environmental Thinking, 21

Modern Philosophy, 33

Philosophy and Environmental Thought, 43

Notes, 45

Chapter Two

LAND USE ATTITUDES 48

- Landholding among Early German and Saxon Freeman, 52
- Thomas Jefferson and the Allodial Rights of American Farmers, 57
- John Locke's Theory of Property, 64
- Modern Difficulties with Locke's Position, 68
- Notes, 73

Part II The Environmental Position

Chapter Three

AESTHETIC AND SCIENTIFIC ATTITUDES 77

- Intrinsic and Instrumental Value, 79
- The Aesthetic and Scientific Traditions, 81
- The Beautiful, the Picturesque, and the Sublime, 86
- The Interesting, 88
- Impact on Environmental Thought, 92
- Impact on Passmore's Position, 94
- Love for Material Objects, 97
- Transcendental Philosophy, 99
- Ontological Considerations, 100
- Nature Preservation and Western Civilization, 102
- Notes, 104

Chapter Four

WILDLIFE PROTECTION ATTITUDES 108

- The History of Ideas, 110
- Reconstructing the Nineteenth-Century View, 115
- The Aesthetics of Wildlife Preservation, 122
- Value in Wildlife Preservation, 124
- Ecology and Evolution Reconsidered, 129
- Notes, 132

Part III Philosophical and Ethical Implications

Chapter Five

THERAPEUTIC NIHILISM AND ENVIRONMENTAL MANAGEMENT 137

- Traditional Therapeutic Nihilism, 140
- Therapeutic Nihilism and Modern Science, 143
- The Origins of Environmental Therapeutic Nihilism, 148
- Environmental Therapeutic Nihilism and Nature Preservation, 154
- Notes, 161

Chapter Six

AN ONTOLOGICAL ARGUMENT FOR ENVIRONMENTAL ETHICS 165

Aesthetic Experience and the Existence of Art Objects, 168

Moore's Position, 171

The Value of Existence in the History of Philosophy, 174

Positive Aesthetics and Preservationist Arguments, 177

The Existence of Beauty in the External World, 180

The Superiority of Natural Beauty, 185

The Ontological Argument for the Preservation of Nature, 191

In Defense of the Ontological Argument, 199

Notes, 204

Afterword

BEYOND ECONOMICS: TOWARD A BALANCED VALUE SYSTEM 206

Notes, 214

INDEX 217