

CONTENTS

Contributors	vii
Preface	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
1 The challenge of applied ethics Richard M. Fox and Joseph P. DeMarco	1
Section I: Contemporary ethical theory
Introduction	21
2 Utilitarianism and its applications J.J.C. Smart	24
3 A contractualist alternative T.M. Scanlon	42
4 Recent Thomistic ethics Vernon J. Bourke	58
5 Existentialist ethics Charles Guignon	73
6 Marxism, morality and moral philosophy Kai Nielsen	92
7 Pragmatic sensibility: the morality of experience John J. McDermott	113
Section II: Fields of applied ethics
Introduction	137

Contents

8	Biomedical ethics: a precocious youth Mary B. Mahowald	141
9	Business ethics Norman E. Bowie	158
10	Reverse discrimination and equal opportunity Robert Fullinwider	173
11	The ethics of nuclear strategy James P. Sterba	190
12	Applied ethics and the vocation of social science Bruce Jennings	205
Section III: The future of ethics
	Introduction	221
13	Why do applied ethics? R.M. Hare	225
14	The future of ethics R.B. Brandt	238
15	Ethical theory in the twenty-first century Michael D. Bayles	249
16	How medicine saved the life of ethics Stephen Toulmin	265
17	Ethics, science and moral philosophy Marcus G. Singer	282
18	Moral philosophy and the future William K. Frankena	299
19	Ethical theory and moral practice: on the terms of their relation Abraham Edel	317